QUIZ NUDELMAN TODAY ON STATE SLUSH SCANDAL

First Gun in Week's Salvo at Machine.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—Director of Finance Samuel L. Nudelman, head of Gov. Henry Horner's sick room regency, will be interrogated by a legislative investigating committee late tomorrow. The quiz will inaugurate a week that promises to be eventful in exposures of irregularities, extravagances and corruption in state affairs, which first came to public attention following the mysterious death on March 9 of F. Lynden Smith, director of public works and former Horner campaign manager.

Samuel Nudelman.

Other developments in the offing for the next six days include:

1. The May grand jury will be impaneled in federal court here tomorrow. Government agents have been active here for the last eight weeks, presumably inquiring into political incomes and possibly looking into Illinois expenditures of federal road money.

Must Answer Slush Suit.

2. In the Sangamon county Circuit court Nudelman and seven other high Horner appointees must file their answer by Tuesday to an intervening complaint asking for an accounting of a campaign slush fund raised by assessing state employés 2 per cent of their pay checks. The petitioner is Henderson B. Gibson, a guard at Joliet penitentiary.

3. In the McLean county Circuit court at Bloomington, Judge W. C. Radliff is expected to rule on a motion by Attorney General John E. Cassidy to dismiss a mandamus suit seeking to compel Lieut. Gov. John Stelle to act as chief executive during the sickness of Gov. Horner.

4. On Tuesday both houses of the assembly will begin their second week of the special session and a battle on both floors is expected to be renewed between the Horner-Nash-Kelly Democrats one one side and the Republicans and the Stelle Democrats on the other. Followers of the statehouse machine and the Chicago city hall machine are seeking to end the session quickly before a house investigation committee can make any appreciable progress.

Fight Racketeer Yoke.

5. In Washington, D. C., the American Road Builders' association will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Leaders in the nation's 2 billion dollar a year highway industry are expected to repudiate influences of gangster labor bosses in the paving business, such as recent exposures concerning the activities of Mike Carrozzo, Chicago labor czar.

As the curtain raiser for this eventful week, Nudelman will be asked to explain wide variations in his reports of the condition of the state treasury. He will face a tough committee, headed by Representative Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island]. There was talk here tonight that his testimony might lead to him being cited for contempt of the house as a whole if he follows advice of his counsel and refuses to answer questions about campaign shakedowns that have mulcted the public treasury.

WHAT DO RUSSIANS READ? 274,500,000 STALIN BOOKS SOLD

MOSCOW, May 5.—Statistics published today on what the citizens of the soviet union read show that Dictator Josef Stalin's works have gone to almost 274,500,000 copies and Lenin's to more than 127,500,000 copies since the 1917 revolution.

De Maupassant heads the list of foreign authors, 3,000,000 copies of his works having been published in this country since 1917. Victor Hugo, Dickens, Henri Barbusse and Romain Rolland all run to more than 2,000,000 copies.

The total circulation of daily newspapers in the soviet union is given as 38,000,000.

Calls Her Fight for Women Just Waste of Time

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 5 [Special].—Miss Lutie E. Stearns, who for 50 years has been one of Wisconsin's foremost and most militant feminists, has decided that women in politics have failed. She was one of Wisconsin's earliest and most persistent advocates of women's suffrage. Now, after contemplation of the record for 20 years since women gained equal suffrage, she is of the opinion that it is pretty well wasted on them.

Miss Lutie E. Stearns.

Her conclusion, expressed in a statement today, is that women inherit their politics as they do their religion. "They rush into politics," she said, "without knowing a plank in a political platform from a planked whitefish. Their influence has been practically nothing in shaping public opinion in the interests of the best candidates."

A Veteran Campaigner.

Miss Stearns has lived in Wisconsin for 68 years and has lectured and worked in women's movements and for the advance of human welfare for more than 50 of them. Her opinions over the effectiveness of women in politics have been accumulating for a number of years, but the way the girls in Milwaukee flocked last month to vote for Carl Zeidler and to oust Dan Hoan as mayor crystalized her convictions into words.

"The women voted for that boy," she said, meaning Zeidler, "because he was good looking and because he had a baritone voice. His campaign was ridiculous—him and his sex appeal!

What She Hoped For.

"I made pleas for women's suffrage in 34 states for many years because I felt if women had the right to vote they would make politics the translation of Christ's principles into the law of the land. I firmly believed that women would vote only for those candidates who would do the most for humanity.

"Never was I more deceived. On getting the right to vote, the women rushed into political parties by inheriting them, as they usually do their religious denomination.

"They spend their time playing bridge rather than voting, and their indifference has hurt many good causes."

22 OUNCE BABY BOY IS DOING WELL AFTER HIS FIRST DAY OF LIFE

A boy who weighed 22 ounces at birth at 2:10 a. m. yesterday was doing well early today in the nursery for premature babies at Michael Reese hospital.

The boy is the first child of Mrs. Adeline Plechaty, 26 years old, and her husband, John, who live at 3012 South Pulaski road. He was born in Chicago Osteopathic hospital, 5200 Ellis avenue, with Drs. Albert Lambert and Walter Doran in attendance.

Dr. Lambert said the infant was placed in cotton and given oxygen after birth. It had a blood transfusion yesterday morning, with the father the blood donor. The baby was transferred to Michael Reese hospital because of special facilities available there.

STRIP TEASING'S JUST ANOTHER JOB—OFFICIALLY

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—After five years of research the labor department today issued a dictionary of jobs, listing 17,452 types of occupations including such categories as cat skinner, screen ape, and striptease artist.

Employment service researchers compiled the volume with the help of 6,500 individual employers and business establishments and the aid of labor unions, trade associations, and professional societies.

The book sets out the general specifications for each job and the type of industry in which it may be found. Of the striptease artist, it says: "She may also dance and sing." A screen ape screens coal in a mine, and a cat skinner operates a tractor.

From the volume one learns that the stale bread man checks the number of bread returns. A Canadian bacon stuffer works in the meat packing industry. A car whacker lines freight cars with heavy paper to protect lumber from dust, and the side splitter isn't necessarily a funny man. He does his side splitting in a slaughtering plant.

Russians Wreck Tractor Because Woman Drives It

MOSCOW, May 5.—Komsomolskaya Pravda, organ of the Young Communist league, revealed today that members of a collective farm in the Melitopol district wrecked a tractor driven by a woman because of hostility toward the employment of girl drivers. The alleged culprits will be tried by a special court being sent to the district.

Nab 2 Women in Trailer Camp for Baby Quiz

Mrs. Mae Smith, 64 years old, a chiropodist, and her daughter, Miss Mary Smith, 43, were seized yesterday as operators of an alleged baby farm at 2415 Winnemac avenue. They had been sought for 10 days. Policewoman Mary Powers traced them to a de luxe trailer parked at the Dunes park trailer camp near Waukegan.

The Smiths and a man and woman taken into custody with them were brought to the detective bureau and later to the state's attorney's office where they were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Theodore Kucewicz until 3 a. m. Then they were locked up for the night.

The Daughter Protests.

Miss Smith, a robust, red-haired woman, protested volubly against the arrest of her mother. "If there's anything wrong," she said, "don't blame Ma." The Smiths were reported to have been planning to leave for Arizona last night in their trailer.

The others held are Mrs. Hazel Rockwell, 46, who said she lived in Toledo and was here on a visit to the Smiths, and Charles Schillinger, 44, who said he was a real estate man conferring with the Smiths on the sale of their home. He gave his address as 6460 Newland avenue.

Also in the trailer was Dudley C. Ketter, 14 months old, described by Miss Smith as the son of a niece, Yvonne Ketter. From the trailer Policewoman Powers, who had obtained the help of Acting Sheriff Walter L. Atkinson of Lake county, took a kit of surgical instruments, and copious records said to include names of scores of women—some presumably expectant mothers—from many states.

Dead Doctors' Phones Listed.

A strange circumstance uncovered by Policewoman Powers is that the names of two doctors, long dead, according to American Medical association records, are listed in the telephone directory with the same numbers as Mae Smith, chiropodist, has at the Winnemac avenue address and at her downtown office at 236 North Clark street.

Warrants for the arrest of the Smith women were issued last Thursday. They charged kidnaping of an infant and operation of a maternity home without a license. A police search for the Smiths started a week previously when an unwed mother, Ethel De Patie, 24, of 10546 Oakley avenue, complained to Judge Harry M. Fisher about practices at the home. She said they refused to surrender her daughter, Carol Ann, born April 12, except on payment of $150.

Miss De Patie regained her child when a nurse with whom the Smiths had left her was arrested.

SCALISE'S UNION GATHERS UNDER CLOUD OF FEARS

Gang Methods Used to Sway Delegates.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., May 5.—With charges of racketeering hovering over their leaders, delegates to the Building Service Employés International union gathered here tonight for a convention resembling a council of war.

James J. Bambrick.

Until a week ago the union was headed by George Scalise, ex-convict panderer under indictment in New York for extortion from hotels and cleaning contractors.

Scalise did not show up, but the spirit of the ex-boss of the nation's 70,000 scrubwomen, porters, janitors, and elevator operators who pay dues to his organization still lived on. Threats of gang intimidation were in the air. Special details of detectives were assigned to this seaside resort.

Life Thrice Threatened.

Adding to the general feeling of apprehension was the public statement of Charles Hardy, leader of San Francisco's janitors' unions, that Scalise "saw fit on three separate occasions to threaten my life." Hardy and Scalise have been fighting over control of the west coast unions and their treasury. Hardy is one of the candidates to succeed Scalise as international president.

William McFetridge, head of the union janitors in Chicago and first vice president of the international, also is in the race despite reports he has received advice from the underworld it would be "unhealthy" for him to take the job. The third candidate is James J. Bambrick of New York City.

Bambrick's candidacy is somewhat mystifying. He has not announced himself formally, but he and his supporters have been electioneering behind the scenes for the last two days.

Leader of 1936 Strike.

It will be recalled that Bambrick, as head of local 32 B, staged the elevator strike in New York City in 1936. He and Scalise negotiated the peace terms with Mayor Fiorello La Guardia.

Detectives from the grand jury and criminal alien squads attached to the office of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey in New York are here, working in conjunction with Atlantic City police. Agents from the federal bureau of investigation, reputedly investigating Scalise's income, were reported on the scene.

Dewey's men are here primarily to protect key witnesses from possible gang reprisals. One of these is Louis Schwartz, president of local 32 J, comprising New York's office building charwomen and porters. Schwartz, a delegate, is free on $6,000 bail on Dewey's charges of conspiracy to extort. He is under 24 hour police guard.

Indicted with Scalise.

Another Schwartz brother, Isadore, head of local 32 A, New York chambermaids and hotel porters, was among the absentees. Isadore Schwartz was indicted with Scalise on charges of 52 shakedowns of cleaning contractors and hotel men for a total of $97,150. Like his brother, he is free on $6,000 bail and under constant guard. Isadore is expected to be a state's witness.

Most of the 175 delegates here for the convention attempted to forget their union troubles for the moment by joining in the city's multifold entertainments, disporting themselves along the boardwalk in the balmy salt air. Some occupied suites in the swanky Ritz Carlton hotel, convention headquarters, and others enjoyed rooms ranging from $5 to $10 a day.

Members' Dues Pay Bills.

All expenses are paid out of union funds, representing the $2 a month dues and the $50 initiation fees collected from scrubwomen, porters, janitors, and elevator operators.

The delegates are presidents, business agents, organizers of the local unions in the larger cities of the country.

BRITAIN.

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—Great Britain tonight officially denied Germany's claim that German warplanes had sunk a 30,000 ton British battleship and a heavy cruiser in air attacks off the Norwegian coast.

The admiralty broke its silence of more than a day since Germany jubilantly announced that her aircraft had sunk or badly damaged nine British warships and transports off the Norwegian ports of Namsos and Narvik Friday.

"The German claim to have sunk a British battleship and a cruiser of the York class in the operations off Namsos is untrue," said the admiralty communique. It made no reference to the other triumphs officially reported by the Nazis but well informed British sources last night described the German claims as "of fantastic character to which the public is fast becoming accustomed."

GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 5 (AP).—Straight in the face of Britain's official denial, authoritative sources here declared tonight that a British battleship was sunk off Norway by dive bombers Friday and that the high command statement in that respect would not be changed.

At the same time it was learned the Germans had planned yesterday to have one of the pilots participating in the attack on the battleship describe the event to a press conference, but that attack group was called on "another mission," the nature of which was not disclosed.

It was said there still is a possibility that one of the pilots might appear before the foreign press to describe the attack.

The Germans tonight said that one of their planes had struck another British battleship with a heavy bomb in an action occurring earlier in the day off Narvik.

Besieged Norse Fortress Falls After 3 Weeks

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 5.—After more than three weeks of battering, the Norwegian fortress of Hegra surrendered to the Germans today.

Cut from mountain rocks and strategically placed 20 miles east of Trondheim and on the railroad to the Swedish border, the fort and its garrison of 175 men had withstood the pounding of German artillery and bombing attacks since early in the Norwegian war.

The abandonment of southern Norway by the British and French, however, made the fight a futile one and the garrison silenced its cannon today.

Reënforcements to Narvik.

Germany is sending reënforcements to its Narvik garrison by both land and air, it was disclosed today. Transportation of troops in planes to this far northern battle point will consume a great deal of the reich's precious gasoline.

German troops from Trondheim or Namsos have reached Grong. To get to Narvik, they still must cover 300 miles of very difficult country.

At Narvik itself, the high command announced, repeated attacks by "strong enemy forces supported by flyers" on German "security units" north of the town "were repulsed by coöperative action of our own land forces and airmen."

Small groups of English troops, apparently left behind in the hasty British and French flight from Namsos, and a few of their Norwegian friends, are marching over the snowbound roads of northern Norway hoping that when and if they reach Narvik, the British will have succeeded in capturing the town.

List Sea War Losses.

Germans have been wondering why no reports of the sinking of English, French, and neutral merchant shipping have been issued in recent weeks. Today they were told that from the beginning of the war to April 30, German destruction of merchant shipping used by the enemy totaled approximately 2,300,000 tons.

[The Associated Press box score of merchant and naval shipping losses, for belligerents and neutrals, shows a total of 1,825,357 tons.]

The high command praised the German "light naval units which since April 9 protected the German troops, transports, and supply ships" bound for Norway. The high command asserted that these units sank 23 enemy submarines since April 9.

NEW RAIL LINE LAYS BULGARIA OPEN TO ATTACK

British Naval Units Seen Near Greece.

Mars' Chessboard

Southern and eastern Europe and African and Asiatic countries of the near east were the chief squares on which the war makers moved their chessmen of strategy or politics yesterday. Neutral diplomats and observers, seeking to solve the riddle of these moves, found many possible answers, but admitted it was all a guessing game. Only events to come will supply the real answers. The various moves are described in the dispatch below and others from Alexandria, Egypt; Bucharest, Rumania, and Budapest, Hungary, on pages 3 and 4. They also are illustrated by a comprehensive map on the back page.

ATHENS, May 5 (AP).—A strategic new railway line, which would give British and French troops an additional route northward if they were landed at Salonika in the event of extension of the war to southeastern Europe, was opened today by King George II. of Greece and members of the Greek cabinet.

The new rail line, some 30 miles long, links Salonika with the upper Struma valley line running to Sofia, Bulgaria.

Opening of the line coincided with circulation thruout the Balkans of reports, apparently German in origin, that debarkation of British and French troops at Salonika actually was imminent.

There was no indication either in Athens or Salonika to indicate that the Greek government expected such a landing. Fishermen returning to the port said they had seen no signs of preparation for such an operation.

Sight More British Warships.

However, they did report sighting additional British war vessels on patrol duty in the Aegean sea, where a number of British ships have been stationed since the start of the war.

With all of the Balkan states anxiously watching developments in the eastern Mediterranean, Greece, like her neighbors, is hoping to preserve her neutrality but at the same time preparing to fight if an enemy should be thrust upon her.

Premier John Metaxas has warned his countrymen that the Greek position is dangerous and that they must be ready to battle for their independence. Uneasiness in Greece has increased each time another neutral country fell prey to outside force. It has been allayed with each assertion that Italy was not entering the war immediately.

Greece Bound to Be Affected.

If Mussolini jumps into the war on the side of Germany, it is believed his first thrust will be in the Balkans. Whether he strikes directly at Greece or only at Jugo-Slavia to the north, such a move is regarded as certain to make Greece a battleground.

If war comes to the Balkans, Salonika and its harbor on the Aegean sea offers the most direct gateway for entrance of British and French troops. Greeks deny reports of a se-

BELGRADE ON VERGE OF PANIC AT FALSE AIR RAID BROADCAST

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 5 (AP).—Belgrade verged on panic for a short time today following a radio announcement that removal of civilians from the capital had been recommended. The alarm proved false, however.

A Belgrade radio speaker said in a lecture on air raid precautions that the safest procedure for those having no reason to remain in the Jugo-Slav capital and who have relatives in the country would be to leave now. This part of the lecture was rebroadcast in Serbian by a British station and caused widespread alarm.

[The British Broadcasting corporation said at London that the rebroadcast must have come from other than an English station.]

Members of the Jugo-Slav Youth organization, Sokol, were ordered into a state of preparedness because of the "general Balkan situation."

NORSE PEOPLE URGED TO KEEP FAITH IN BRITISH

Control of Huge Merchant Marine Is Sought.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—British and French strategy in the Norwegian campaign will be discussed tomorrow by British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax with the Norwegian foreign minister, Dr. Halvdan Koht and Defense Minister Col. Birger Ljungberg, who arrived secretly in London today.

The Norwegian ministers are expected to confer also with Prime Minister Chamberlain, First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, and other British war leaders before moving on to Paris, probably on Tuesday, for similar discussions with the French government.

British diplomatic sources indicated that problems affecting Norway's 4½ million ton fleet of merchant ships and oil tankers are important in the talks here. The same circles stress the need for effective allied defense of northern Norway, asserting that as long as King Haakon and the government are established on Norwegian soil Norwegians abroad and Norwegian sea captains will remain loyal to their orders.

Urged to Keep Patience.

Dr. Koht tonight broadcast a message to the Norwegian people urging them not to lose patience and counselling them to put their trust in the allies. He said the allies had promised Norway "full aid" and that it was a point of honor for them to fulfill that promise. "We on our side must not give up the struggle," he said.

In such an event, he added, there could be no hope that Germany would restore Norway's independence after the war. He mentioned Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland in that connection.

Telling of some of his own experiences, Dr. Koht said:

"I have seen German bombs rain over defenseless Norwegian homes, seen trembling women and crying children run into the forests or huddle in cold, dark cellars in order to get away from the German weapon of murder."

The Germans are doing to Norway, he asserted, the things they have not dared to do to England and France.

The Norwegians' will to fight has been awakened, Dr. Koht said, "and in the end they will sweep the enemy out of the country."

Came on British Warship.

Dr. Koht and Col. Ljungberg came to a Scottish port on a British warship. Word of their journey was closely guarded for several hours after their arrival.

Accompanying them were Sir Cecil Dormer, British minister to Norway, and Lady Dormer, and the wife of the French minister to Norway. Official sources asserted Dr. Koht's decision to journey to England was taken before the allied troops withdrew from central Norway.

Concerning war activity in Norway, a war office communique said:

"There is nothing of importance to report from Narvik [the northern iron ore port] where operations are continuing. There has been slight enemy air activity in this area."

Intense criticism of the British government's handling of the Norwegian campaign appears to have died down somewhat over the week-end and Chamberlain is reported confident of his ability to deal with his critics when parliament on Tuesday debates the general conduct of the war.

Has Backing of Churchill.

Chamberlain is helped by the fact that he has the backing of Churchill and that a government shakeup which would displace the first lord of the admiralty would be regarded as another victory for Adolph Hitler.

Political circles stated that Chamberlain is keeping a card up his sleeve for the big debate. They say that he will attempt to suppress his critics by conferring on Churchill wider powers for directing Britain's war strategy and speeding up decisions on staff action.

Meanwhile, the disclosure in diplomatic circles that Sir Percy Lorraine, British ambassador to Italy, who has been in London several weeks, now is on his way back to Rome, focussed attention again on the Mediterranean.

Warnings Sent to Italy.

Altho Lorraine's return might be taken to indicate Anglo-Italian tension is less acute, the Daily Telegraph diplomatic correspondent stated that Britain and France have issued private warnings that they would regard Italy as an enemy if Mussolini embarks on military adventures against any other country.

Rome, the Telegraph asserted, contemplates a swift advance into Salonika, Greece, which would presumably become an allied base if the war spreads to the Danubian and Balkan areas, and also plans an attack on Malta and Gibraltar.

The writer asserted that great pressure is being put on Mussolini to deter him from entering the war and said that President Roosevelt's message to Il Duce last week pointed out the "inevitable consequences if Italy began a war."

Opposes Peace Moves.

A warning that the British are "fighting with their backs to the wall for their very existence" was sounded by John Jagger, Laborite member of parliament and president of the influential Distributive Workers union.

Jagger, addressing the annual union meeting, branded pacifist talk as "treason," and said any proposition for immediate peace should be defeated overwhelmingly.

A reminder of the necessity of preparation for air attacks was given in a test mobilization of 70,000 air raid precautions workers in six counties of the Midland region of England, centering at Nottingham.

A mock "blitzkrieg" on the industrial center was staged—and it was calculated that 80 high explosive bombs would have caused 323 deaths.

German Advances

(Story in adjoining column.)

German troops yesterday captured Hegra fortress (1), reached Grong (2), repulsed attacks at Narvik (3), and bombed Kirkenes (4).

HITLER BOMBERS RAID KIRKENES, ON ARCTIC COAST

Do Little Damage in Far North Foray.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 5 (AP).—The Germans, carrying their aerial attack to the far north of Norway, bombed Kirkenes, on the Arctic coast near the Finnish Petsamo district, yesterday morning, the Norwegian News bureau reported today.

The agency said four bombs were dropped, but little damage was done. The German airmen also attacked communities near Kirkenes.

[Messages from Oslo said British bombers raided the Oslo airport Saturday night for the sixth time within a week. There was no report on the result.]

Guerrilla Fighting.

A Norwegian news agency report broadcast in Stockholm said Norwegian detachments defeated and drove back a German force after fighting in the Oester valley yesterday, about 25 miles southeast of Storen, which is 35 miles south of Trondheim. Two hundred Germans were reported killed.

[The Stockholm radio also quoted the Norwegian agency as reporting the capture by the Germans of Roros. Last week the Germans were said to have penetrated beyond Roros but had been forced to fall back. German airplanes appeared over Roros during the morning and dropped six or seven bombs on the main street, but no casualties were reported as most of the civilian population had fled. The troops occupied the town during the afternoon.]

Chute Troops Rout British.

A small British force of not more than 100 men, which had been left in the Nam valley above Namsos when the main British force departed, and which had made its way to Mo, today was driven eastward from that village by German troops landed by parachute from airplanes. The British are expected to follow the mountain road to Umbuktu and to cross into Sweden to be interned.

A Norwegian telegraph agency report said Norwegian general headquarters had been established in northern Norway and that mobilization remained in force in Norway.

King Haakon VII. and his government, who fled before the Germans when the invasion began April 9, are believed to be somewhere in the north, possibly in the arctic area.

QUESTION OF HOW TO FEED NORWAY IS GROWING ACUTE

Big Nazi Army Adds to the Problem.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 5.—What will happen to the Norwegians after 200,000 German soldiers have occupied their country and when no supplies can reach Norway because of the British blockade?

That is one of the distressing questions growing out of the German victories in the northern campaign.

Even in peacetime Norway had to import most of her food. Now that will be impossible. Germany is not in a position to help, because her own shortage of food is growing more serious daily.

Accept the Sacrifices.

Germany's population accepts the minimum rations for the sake of a greater Germany, but in Norway matters are different.

There is the Norwegian climate, which calls for bigger rations of food. The hope has been expressed that the American Red Cross will assist the Norwegians and send them food the same as Americans sent food to Belgium in the world war. Messages from Norway indicate that the food situation there is serious.

Germans naturally are doing their best to strengthen the belief of the Norwegians that they were betrayed by England and France, hoping thus to turn Norwegian resentment against England and France, despite the fact that the Germans were the ones who actually invaded Norway.

Blow to Anti-Nazi Hopes.

To those Germans who still held to the belief that Nazism was just a temporary phase in German history the flight of the British and French from Norway sounded like a death knell. The opposition to Nazism had become less and less with each German victory in Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, and Poland.

A tiny group still believed that democracy was a form of government that could function satisfactorily in Europe, but the spectacular defeat of Poland in three weeks and the blitzkrieg defeat of the British on Norwegian soil have shattered the faith of the last German believers in democracy. A few weeks ago Hitler said that all his life he "had to fight against nonentities."

Tonight not only the ardent Nazis subscribed to this statement, but men who heretofore were reluctant to join the Hitler bandwagon were dropping their belief that democracy will ever be able to return to Germany.

BELGIUM SENDS 'ST. LOUIS' MAN TO JAIL AS SPY

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 5 (AP).—Arthur Kathner, who said he was born in St. Louis, has been sentenced by the Brabant provincial military court to 15 years' imprisonment on a charge of spying for Germany. Two Germans were sentenced to like terms with him.

Kathner, who was arrested Nov. 29, 1939, was reported to have approached a Belgian who denounced him. Military Judge J. Dallers, who sentenced Kathner, said the man posed as an American, but had no documents to prove it. Kathner gave his birthdate as June 29, 1886.

Red Tanker with Oil for Nazis in Rumanian Port

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 5.—The Russian tanker Sakhalin arrived in Constanta today with a cargo of 10,000 tons of refined oil bound for Germany. The petroleum is to be unloaded at the storage plant of the German owned Petrol Block company.

READY TO FIGHT OFF ANY ATTACK, EGYPT DECLARES

First Blackout Is Ordered in Land of Pharaohs.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 5 (AP).—Backed by thousands of British and French troops and the largest empires' fleet yet assembled in the European war, Egypt tonight declared her readiness to fight against attack from any quarter and ordered the first country-wide blackout in the history of the land of the Pharaohs.

Egypt's highest defense council began daily sessions as reports were received that Italian warships and thousands of troops were being concentrated in the Dodecanese Islands, about 400 miles northwest of this port across the Mediterranean.

[Italian authorities in Rome have declined comment on reports that troops, ships, and warplanes have been massed in the Dodecanese group.]

Rush Naval Harbor Works.

Allied troops—about 60,000 British soldiers are said by neutrals to be in Egypt alone—stood ready to board transports. Their commanders scanned reports that Italy has landed 55,000 soldiers in the Dodecanese Islands.

The allies were reported rushing naval reënforcements to bolster the huge fleet in Alexandria harbor.

[The authoritative German commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said in Berlin that the impression prevails in German officialdom that shifting of the British Mediterranean fleet from the Island of Malta to Alexandria is "nothing but a preventive flight which should give the British fleet greater security against obviously feared eventualities"—meaning the possible entry of Italy into the war.]

Count Serafino Mazzolini, Italy's minister to Egypt, meanwhile told Egypt's Italian colony of 60,000 not to believe that Italy intended to attack any of her neighbors.

Urged to Stay on Job.

He said they could send their children to Italy as usual this year for youth organization exercises without any fears for their safety.

The count urged the colony, composed mainly of workers, to keep calm and to stay on their jobs.

The Egyptian national defense ministry issued instructions for a one week blackout beginning Tuesday. All public buildings already are under guard.

Egypt's minister of national defense, Mohamed Saleh Harb Pasha, in a statement declared Egypt never would be taken by surprise.

"Military preparations for the defense of the country have reached today a maximum point of perfection," he said. "We are prepared to repulse any attack no matter from what or where it comes. We are vigilant and ready."

The Situation on Land.

On land, the allied situation was reported to shape up like this:

1. Allied officers in Istanbul, Turkey, said in April that the maximum force which could be sent out of Syria, Palestine, and Egypt at that time was 200,000 men. However, foreign observers in February had reported that carefully checked figures indicated the British and French troops in the near east totaled at least 570,000 men.

2. Turkey, which has a mutual aid pact with the allies to fight with them in the event the war comes to the Balkans or the near east, was estimated early in March to have 500,000 men under arms.

3. Egypt has an army of 20,000 men. Also, she is obligated under the treaty of 1936 with Britain to furnish Britain facilities and assistance on Egyptian soil in wartime.

Despite the increasing tension, however, Alexandria and the remainder of Egypt remained calm.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Arline Judge, film actress, and new husband, James McKinley Bryant, in Louisville, Ky., after wedding.

Louisville, Ky., May 5 (AP).—James McKinley Bryant, an executive for a Fifth avenue hotel, announced tonight he and Arline Judge, film actress, were married "somewhere" in Kentucky "between 6 o'clock last night and 3 o'clock this morning."

Both attended the Kentucky Derby here yesterday.

The couple left by train for New York tonight. Bryant said he was 31, his bride 27. It was Bryant's second marriage. Miss Judge married Topping after her divorce from Wesley Ruggles, film director.

Would Benefit Empire Landing at Salonika.

cret agreement to let Britain and France, both of whom have guaranteed her independence and integrity, use the port.

From Italian bases in Albania, across the northern Greek frontier, Salonika is but 100 miles, a half hour's flight for bombing planes. Athens, the capital, is only 45 minutes by air from the reinforced Italian bases in the Dodecanese Islands on the Turkish side of the Aegean.

8,000 Miles on the Sea.

Greece has 700 miles of land frontiers to defend and 8,000 miles of sea frontier, if one includes all of the Greek Islands.

To guard these she has an army, now virtually on a war time scale, of about 100,000 men.

She has a navy of 5,000 men. Its biggest ships are two cruisers, both of which antedate the last war and one of which formerly belonged to the Chinese navy. She also has 12 destroyers and six submarines, some of them new. Greece has about 125 warplanes.

Greece also has new fortifications—the "Metaxas line" along the Albanian border, construction of which was started after the Italians moved into Albania in April, 1939.

Greece is on excellent terms with Jugo-Slavia on her north and Turkey, nonbelligerent ally of Britain and France, on her east.

Her other neighbor, Bulgaria, has claims on Macedonia, the province lying between the Bulgarian border and the northern shore of the Aegean. But recently Greek-Bulgarian relations have been only fair.

50,000 Troops on Frontier.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 5 (AP).—Bulgarian officials said today that at least 50,000 Turkish soldiers are massed on the Turkish-Greek frontier in Europe. The officials said they were of the opinion the concentrations were "in accordance with British desires, and are connected with England's plans in the Mediterranean."

Bulgarian officials expressed concern that some Turkish troops were close to the frontier in apparent disregard of a mutual agreement not to mass soldiers there. They said Bulgaria had given Turkey no cause for such an action.

Meanwhile, a struggle for Bulgarian support was reported in progress in Sofia between the German economic expert, Dr. Karl Clodius, and the British ambassador to Turkey, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen.

The nature of Clodius' representations was not known, but Knatchbull-Hugessen was reported reliably to have brought a proposal embracing a big British loan and a promise of a corridor to the Aegean sea—long wanted by Bulgaria.

NEW BRITISH AIR CASUALTY LIST BIGGEST OF WAR

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—The royal air force's largest casualty list of the war today added 110 names to its toll of dead and missing. It named 20 killed in action, 26 killed in active service, 12 who died in active service, and 52 who are missing. The list brought the totals since the outbreak of war to 238 killed in action, 28 dead from wounds suffered in action, 118 missing and believed killed, 436 killed in active service, 212 who died in active service, and 71 who were wounded in active service. Other totals so far are 39 wounded in action, 9 missing and believed to be prisoners, 8 captured, and 208 others missing.

RUMANIA FLIRTS WITH THOUGHT OF NAZI GUARANTEE

Believe Goering Paid Visit to King Carol.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 5.—Despite official denials, many diplomats believe King Carol of Rumania received Field Marshal Goering, Germany's No. 2 Fuehrer, secretly last week at the royal hunting lodge at Lapushna in Transylvania to discuss the future of southeastern Europe.

While Rumanians wait anxiously to see what German or Italian move may follow the British fiasco in southern Norway, their king has gotten first hand information, these diplomats say.

Two highly reliable sources have informed THE TRIBUNE that Goering and Carol met and the diplomats believe Goering came to suggest close coöperation with Germany.

Meanwhile, it was confirmed that Gen. Von Tippleskirch, a high German staff officer, paid a secret four day visit to Bucharest, from last Monday to Thursday. He conferred with Rumanian leaders and German diplomats here and then moved on to Sofia, Bulgaria, and Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia.

Russian Troops Massed.

Rumanian and foreign diplomats say that both his visit and Goering's—if Goering came—sprang from the growing number of Russian troops along the border opposite Rumanian Bukovina.

That point in the frontier offers the easiest natural route for anybody trying to invade Rumania. Rumanians think that if there is one real case where Germany has proved "a bulwark against bolshevism" it is in Rumania.

It is not in the German interests, for the present at least, to have the peace disturbed here. In the long run things might be different and, if Russia bursts in, there is little doubt Germany would follow suit to save what she could.

The best bet is that Germany has been reminded that she alone could offer effective aid against Russian invasion if it came and is trying to use that as a means of coercion by threatening to give Russia a free hand if Rumania does not coöperate with Germany.

Have Little Fear of Italy.

Rumanians have no particular worries about Italy at present. They doubt that Italy intends to start anything or that if she did it would affect Rumania immediately. It is thought Jugo-Slavia would occupy Italy for a while.

On the other hand, the Rumanians want no Italian guarantee. They want no German guarantee either, but if it came to a choice between that and facing Russia alone there is little doubt they would take it and pay the price.

Rumanians never have doubted that the British would like to carry out their guarantee on their frontiers but they have strong doubts whether the British could do anything effective in time of need. Since the Norwegian campaign those doubts have increased.

BRITONS JOIN IN FRENCH HONOR TO JOAN OF ARC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 5.—Soldiers and civilians joined hands today to pay tribute to St. Joan of Arc, the legendary heroine of France, on the national holiday in her honor. All official edifices and thousands of homes were bedecked with flags.

Ceremonies were held in Domremy, where she was born; in Orleans, where she won her first great victory, and in Rouen, where she was burned at the stake.

Premier Paul Reynaud and members of his cabinet placed an immense floral wreath before her statue in the Place des Pyramides in Paris. A military review followed. An imposing service was held this afternoon in Notre Dame cathedral.

In communities where British soldiers are stationed the Tommies of 1940 took part in the ceremonies, altho five centuries ago plank No. 1 in Joan of Arc's program was, in her own words, "To boot the English out of France."

Every city, town, and hamlet in France has at least one statue of Joan of Arc, making a total of almost 50,000. To each there was a pilgrimage.

False Teeth Wearers Often Worst Breath Offenders!

"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities... Recommend Poligent

A thin dark film collects on plates and bridges. This film soaks up odors and impurities like a sponge! It holds germs and decay bacteria, and it is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. It gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.

Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, a powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and dentists everywhere.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes —Rinse — and it's ready to use!

HUNGARY WRECKS HUGE SPY RING IN ANNEXED REGION

German, Red War Forces Active on Frontier.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 5 (AP).—A huge spy and propaganda organization, said to have been working both for France and Russia in former Czecho-Slovak regions annexed by Hungary, was smashed by Hungarian authorities last week, it was disclosed today. Almost 200 persons were arrested at Kassa, Ungvar, and Munkacs. The German Gestapo [secret police] furnished Hungary with information leading to the arrests, it was reported, and one of those arrested proved to be a German secret police agent who wormed his way into the conspiracy to betray it.

The spy disclosure coincided with reliable reports of unusual German military activity in Slovakia, a German protectorate established over a former part of Czecho-Slovakia, and of Russian troop reënforcements in former Poland along the frontier of Ruthenia, the Hungarian part of former Czecho-Slovakia.

Stringing Phone Lines.

According to diplomatic information from Slovakia, the Germans are stringing extra telephone lines and moving large shipments of munitions and other supplies eastward.

The Russians were reported to have moved troops from Finland to the Ruthenian frontier, and were said now to have there from six to eight motorized divisions [from more than 100,000 to nearly 150,000 men].

The spy hunt also coincided with new expressions of ill feeling between Hungary and Slovakia. Foreign Minister Count Stephen Csaky on April 30, asserted that the Hungarian minority in Slovakia was being mistreated, and that Hungarian patience was about at an end. He hinted that should Hungary see fit to act against Slovakia, German friendship for Hungary would prove stronger than her concern for Slovakia.

Radio Repeats Warning.

Slovak planes on Saturday dropped pamphlets over Kassa, reading, "Slovaks! The day of liberation is near! Get ready. Hitler is with us. The glorious Slovak army will deliver you from the Magyar [Hungarian] yoke."

Some of those arrested had plans of the Arpad defense line, which Hungary recently built along her Ruthenian frontier facing Russia in Poland. Should the Russians smash this line they could advance thru the Carpathians, the natural barrier to Russia expansion along the Danube.

The Moscow radio recently has been making Pan-Slav appeals to the Ruthenians. Hungarian counter measures have included the distribution of free herrings to the Ruthenians for their Orthodox Easter last week.

CROWD IN ROME CHEERS PEACE PLEA BY POPE

Five Minute Ovation Follows Talk.

ROME, May 5 (AP).—Cheers rang thru the church of St. Mary-over-Minerva in Rome today as Pope Pius XII. concluded a new plea for peace.

Pope Pius.

A congregation that packed the church gave the pope an ovation lasting almost five minutes. There were repeated shouts of "Long live the pope" and "Long live Italy."

Speaking with great earnestness the pontiff declared that the time for prayer is now, "while whirlwinds unleashed by human passions which overwhelm noble nations in a fearful manner threaten beyond the Alps and Italy's frontiers."

Prayer Said for Italy.

Pope Pius prayed to Jesus Christ especially to protect Italy, which he described as "this people and this land beloved by you, saved by the blood of your apostles and of so many martyrs, and consecrated by the work of so many of your vicars."

The pope's discourse was delivered after he had attended pontifical mass at the church of St. Mary-over-Minerva to close a series of celebrations in honor of St. Catherine of Siena. The service in honor of St. Catherine, whom the pope has designated along with St. Francis of Assisi as patron saint of Italy, took place there because her relics are preserved in the church's high altar.

It was the fourth time since his election 14 months ago that the pontiff had left the Vatican for a ceremonial trip into Rome.

A Power in Statesmanship.

St. Catherine, who lived from 1347 to 1380, prevailed on Pope Gregory XI. to transfer the papal throne from Avignon, France, back to Rome in 1377. Miraculous powers were attributed to her and she also displayed gifts of statesmanship that helped her to arrange peace between Pope Gregory and the Republic of Florence, as well as a reconciliation between Pope Urban VI. and the Roman republic.

Jugo-Slavia Bars 10,000 German "Convalescents"

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 5 (AP).—The government has rejected a German request to send 10,000 "convalescents" into Jugo-Slavia and has countered with an offer to take that many sick children under 15 years of age. Political circles said today that officials recalled that at a time when the Hungarians were inclined to give up the world war struggle in 1916, the Germans quartered there thousands of "convalescent" troops. They proved to be healthy enough to cause Hungarians to drop such ideas.

RUSSIANS TOLD BRITAIN PLAYS DANGEROUS GAME

MOSCOW, May 5 (AP).—The newspaper Red Navy charged today that British "imperialists in the near east continue a dangerous game dependent on maximum expansion of the war—a game which may bring serious consequences to its initiators."

"Events in Scandinavia have not removed the question of the near east from the program of the day," the newspaper said.

"Notes of alarm more and more frequently are met with in the British press. They indicate some serious worries of British imperialists in the near east."

The authoritative newspaper Trud asserted that Norway is the latest victim of British imperialism.

"The Norwegian government was used as a toy in the hands of the British government," Trud said. "English imperialists are ready to double-cross every one in order to retain maritime superiority."

FRENCH BEAT OFF FRESH GERMAN ATTACK ON SAAR

PARIS, May 5 (AP).—The British-French high command reported tonight that German troops, attacking in increasing force on the western front, were driven off by a spirited counterattack after they had penetrated a line of French advance posts.

The attack was made early this morning against French positions in the wooded valleys where the Saar river bends into France. It was the second Nazi attack in force within 24 hours on the central sector of the 100 mile front between the Moselle river and the Rhine.

Advance Posts Surrounded.

The field gray clad Germans attacked behind what the French described as heavy artillery fire. They broke thru gaps between the French advance posts and surrounded three of them, indicating the attack was more concentrated than that of the morning before.

Small numbers of French troops in the advance posts kept up a steady fire until the counterattack was organized from the resistance line to the rear. This was led by light scouting units trained to come to close grips with the enemy. They drove off the Nazis, the official communique reported.

[Germany's war summary yesterday said: "On the western front, no special events."]

See No Big Offensive.

The attack made by the Germans before dawn yesterday was described at the war ministry today as an important test showing the solidity of the French positions. There still is no sign of an immediate general offensive, it was said.

Two German companies, totaling more than 600 men, were reported to have suffered heavy losses in the vain effort to crack the French line along the edge of the woods on the Blies river.

Nazis Fail to Reach Line.

The Germans opened with heavy artillery preparation and then sent over the two companies. Fire from artillery and machine guns was reported to have stopped the Germans before they could reach the French line.

French scouts later said they found abandoned arms and blood stained uniforms, indicating the Germans fell back in disorder. The German dead and wounded had been removed under cover of darkness and there was no estimate of casualties.

Nazi Aerial Mine Layer Forces Belgian Ship to Flee

BRUSSELS, May 5 (AP).—German minelaying airplanes over the English channel were reported today by a Belgian mail and passenger ship which said it was forced to return to Ostend, its base, without completing its regular trip to Folkestone. Another ship in the same service, with 22 passengers aboard, anchored between Calais and Gravelines.

3 CCC BOYS DIE AS TRUCK FALLS 75 FT. INTO RIVER

Fresno, Cal., May 6, Monday (AP).—Three CCC boys were reported dead, a fourth dying, and others missing in the 75 foot plunge of a forest service truck into the Kings river last night.

Maj. A. E. Dedicke, commandant of the Fresno CCC district, said the truck was submerged in the stream, 25 miles southeast of Fresno. Two boys were trapped in the cab. A third was believed dead of injuries.

The fire department rescue squad and searchlight wagon, equipped with powerful lights, aided in rescue work. The truck was carrying 15 to 20 enrollees back to Camp Trimmer after a recreational week-end in Fresno.

"There are probably more bodies in the river," said Maj. Dedicke.

STIRRING TRIBUTE ON W-G-N HONORS THE 1ST DIVISION

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

"March on, then, First division! March over the hills of sunny France; march thru the flaming towns of Picardy; up the shell swept slopes of the Lorraine; thru the gas filled forests of the Argonne; on into everlasting glory!"

This tribute to the 1st division of the American expeditionary forces introduced a stirring dramatic production last night commemorating the 23d anniversary of the division, to be observed this summer, and climaxed THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE second Sunday evening symphonic hour.

The night was army night at W-G-N. Six hundred guests, representing the United States army, the Illinois National Guard, and organized reserves filled W-G-N's main studio and thrilled to the program of music and drama.

Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding general of the 6th corps area, addressed the gathering and led up to the dramatic tableau that followed.

Hails Contribution to Defense.

After complimenting W-G-N on its contribution to the cause of national defense, Gen. Ford touched on several aspects of modern war.

"Modern war," he said, "touches all the people. National discipline and national spirit in all that is good and just and intelligent for the welfare of our country must not be allowed to fade away."

America ought to develop a military virtue, he said, which will be a signal to a disordered world that the nation has the spirit and power to defend its institutions and traditions today as always.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, in his introduction to the tableau recalled that he had first used the words quoted at the start of this article when dedicating the monument to the first division at Cantigny, France, three years ago.

Reminded of Grim Days.

Addressing the army men, he continued: "Tonight as I see your faces I am reminded once more of those grim days, and once again I have the feel of marching feet. Those old years come rushing back."

With a low roll of drums the dramatic production "Taps"—a blending of effects known as montage— was introduced. It pictured soldiers going to war, to the accompaniment of marching songs. This was followed by a realistic battle scene with the booming of guns, the whistle of shrapnel, the spit of machine guns, and the roar of a musical background presented with special effects by the W-G-N orchestra under Henry Weber. Then came the armistice and the music of men marching home.

From the parade of the living the scene shifted to the shadow brigade—the men who never came back.

Actors Retell Stories of Death.

Picked actors—representing the men who did not return—retold the stories of their deaths to an eerie effect of marching feet.

Finally came the singing of "Taps," by Marion Claire, prima donna of the Symphonic hour—singing softly to the sound of shadowy marching:

"Soldiers rest, gently pressed, to the calm mother earth's waiting breast;
"Duty done, like the sun, going west——"

The production closed with the intoning of "March on then, First Division . . ." with Miss Claire singing the remaining words of "Taps" and concluding simultaneously with the spoken words "Into Everlasting Glory." This dramatic episode of "Taps" with written and produced by William A. Bacher, who also is producer-director of the W-G-N Chicago Theater of the Air.

Among distinguished guests who heard the tribute to the First Division and the preceding program of distinguished music were Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for United States senator, and Col. Hanford MacNider, former assistant secretary of war, both veterans; Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President, and Joe E. Brown, the movie headliner, and Mrs. Brown.

Many in Dress Uniforms.

The soldier guests, many resplendent in dress uniforms, enjoyed the music as well as the dramatic presentation. Miss Claire sang Debussy's "Les Cloches" and Griffes' "By a Lovely Forest Pathway." She presented Landon Ronald's "Cycle of Life" as an encore.

The orchestral numbers included Smetana's "The Moldau," his overture to "The Bartered Bride," and Strauss' "Tales of the Vienna Woods."

Next Sunday night THE TRIBUNE will present another symphonic hour over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. These programs are dedicated to the security, prosperity, entertainment, and enlightenment of Chicagoland. Representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce will be special guests next Sunday, as they were for the first of this series.

NAZI INVASION OF BRITAIN NEAR, ITALIANS TOLD

ROME, May 5 (AP).—Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's newspaper Il Telegrafo, repeated his forecast that Germany would invade England in his weekly radio broadcast to the Italian armed forces today. He had made a similar prediction yesterday.

"Everything causes one to presume that this war very soon will see a great effort on the part of Germany to invade England in force," Ansaldo said.

"Never were conditions in which the present war is being conducted more favorable to the attackers, never were technical resources available to the enemy on the continent so favorable.

"The blow planned by Napoleon certainly will be attempted again."

In his speech Ansaldo made no references to future Italian policy other than the statement that "Italy must emerge from this great crisis with a settlement of its age old problems of independence and greatness."

The Fascist press continued to chorus a warning to Britain and France against attempting to exert pressure on Italy thru their naval reinforcements in the Mediterranean.

Typical of these statements was one by Il Messaggero, which said:

"The allied decision does not disturb us. But if it should mean the beginning of offensive intentions, of whatever source, the Italian reaction will be prompt and effective so as to compel the democracies to register a second and burning defeat."

INJURED FATALLY IN FALL.

Joseph Norman, 35 years old, colored, 1728 Lake street, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell from an elevated lines platform at Paulina and Lake streets. He died in county hospital.

PRESS FOR CURB ON PRESIDENT'S GRAB OF POWER

Hampering of CAA Raises Furor in Congress.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—The controversy over President Roosevelt's executive order transferring the Civil Aeronautics authority to the commerce department and abolishing the air safety board attained white heat tonight.

Senator McCarran.

Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.] accused the President of setting out to establish autocratic control not only of the aeronautics board but all other agencies of the government now independent of the executive.

Charging that the transfer of civil aeronautics would result in a five year setback for the aviation industry and retard national defense, Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, Republican leader of the house, called for a nonpartisan effort in both houses to pass the veto measure necessary to thwart the President's action. McCarran will press the veto in the senate this week.

Martin Demands Veto.

"Careful study of the President's proposal to transfer the Civil Aeronautics authority back to the political administration of the commerce department indicates clearly that the executive order should be vetoed by congress," said Martin. "I am hopeful that, by prompt nonpartisan action this week, our great civil aviation industry may be spared further, disruption and embarrassment at the hands of political burocrats.

"Altho the executive order now has been before the country for almost five weeks, nothing has been presented to explain or justify the proposed abolition of the air safety board. This agency, in coöperation with the CAA, gave the United States its first year without a fatality in commercial air transport. Why should such substantial work be rewarded with extinction?

Safety Hinging on a Whim.

"Congress should refuse to submit the safety of the air to the whim of any one individual.

"The Civil Aeronautics authority was created by a special act of congress in 1938. Its administrative and regulatory functions were arranged in strict conformity with the recommendations of the Howell commission, which the President himself appointed to untangle the disastrous situation created by the summary cancelation of the air mail contracts in February, 1934.

"The White House executive order of April 11, 1940, if permitted to become effective after 60 days, would throw the entire aviation industry back at least five years. Unquestionably this also would retard our vital national defense program.

"In these times of dangerous international stress, it is doubly the constitutional duty and responsibility of congress to check and restrain rash executive orders."

Renewed Bid for Power.

Senator McCarran voiced his charges in the course of comment on the budget bureau report attempting to rationalize the transfer. The senator said that the aeronautics authority is fundamentally the same kind of agency as the Interstate Commerce commission and that if the ICC were substituted for the CAA in the budget bureau report "we would have an accurate statement of what the President is striving toward.

"The proposed reorganization of the Civil Aeronautics authority," Senator McCarran went on, "is simply the first step in a renewed campaign to apply to the independent agencies the principles of organization and of executive control advocated by the Brownlow committee."

Dentist and Tavern Man Are Killed in Auto Crash

Holland, Mich., May 5 [Special].—Howard Lillard, 38 years old, manager of a tavern here, and Dr. Chester Sulkers, 37, a dentist, died this morning after Sulkers' car hit a concrete abutment north of Big Rapids. They had left here at 1:30 o'clock this morning for a trout fishing trip.

FAY GATES.

Bellefonte, Pa., May 5 [Special].—Police hunted tonight for the killer of Fay Gates, 25 years old, whose battered body was found this morning on a lonely road in Spook Hollow, nine miles east of Bellefonte.

Miss Gates had been beaten brutally. An autopsy disclosed that she also had been raped and had been run over by an auto.

The manner of the murder and the region where it took place paralleled the sex killing five weeks ago of Rachel Taylor, 17, a freshman at Penn State college. She was killed near Lemont, 16 miles from here, while returning to the college after a vacation at her home in New Jersey.

"There is a close connection between these two murders," said Col. Lyn G. Adams, commander of the state police who is in charge of the investigation. "We have reasons to believe that the same sex fiend who slew Rachel Taylor also waylaid and murdered Fay Gates."

Hardy and his crowd from the west were clamoring today for a thoro house cleaning of the international and changes in the constitution to prevent another Scalise fiasco in the future. Hardy is president of the office building janitors local in San Francisco and business agent for the theatrical and amusement janitors.

"Scalise and I have differed on matters of policy for a long time," said Hardy. "Owing to requests which I made and of which he did not approve, he saw fit on three separate occasions to threaten my life."

Scalise came into the international union as eastern representative in 1934 after a brief career in an automobile washers and polishers union in Brooklyn, which was under fire for acts of vandalism. He became fifth international vice president in 1935. His appointment was said to have been dictated by eastern gangsters.

Elevated by Coercion.

It also was underworld coercion in 1937 that forced the executive board of the union to name Scalise as president after the death of Jerry Horan of Chicago, it is reported.

The international union was started 28 years ago under the leadership of William Quesse, a Belgian-American and head of the Chicago flat janitors. He died 13 years ago and Horan succeeded him. Until 1934 the international consisted mainly of Chicago locals, with a total membership of 19,000.

It was Scalise's boast that he ran the membership from 19,000 to 70,000. The former boss of the international, who in his youth served four years in the penitentiary for pandering, became a power in the American Federation of Labor.

HAYMARKET VETS OPEN DRIVE FOR 3 LAST MEMBERS

The two living members of the Haymarket Riot Veterans' association held their annual reunion in the Des Plaines street police station yesterday—54 years and one day after an anarchist's bomb killed eight policemen and wounded 75 others in the riot of May 4, 1886.

The two are former Police Captain Frank P. Tyrrell, 82 years old, Oak Park, and George W. Roycraft, 93, of 3304 Schubert avenue. The principal business was the opening of a membership drive in an effort to bring the three other police survivors into the ranks of the association. They are Herman F. Krueger, 81, of 4449 North Christiana avenue; Thomas Brophy, 82, of 4943 Van Buren street, and Charles Whitney, 82, of Santa Rosa, Cal.

Wife of Policeman Kills Self with Husband's Gun

Mrs. Elsie Link, 30 years old, wife of Policeman Walter Link of the Summerdale station, was shot and fatally wounded last night in her home at 1618 North Oakley avenue. According to Lieut. Andrew Sheridan of the North avenue station, she shot herself with her husband's service gun while she was despondent. She died early today in St. Elizabeth's hospital.

HEART ATTACK IN LOOP IS FATAL.

Carol Wilbur, 45 years old, 1836 South Maple avenue, Berwyn, a post office clerk, suffered a heart attack in the loop yesterday, and died while being taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

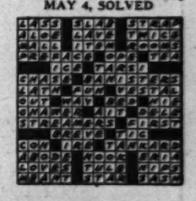
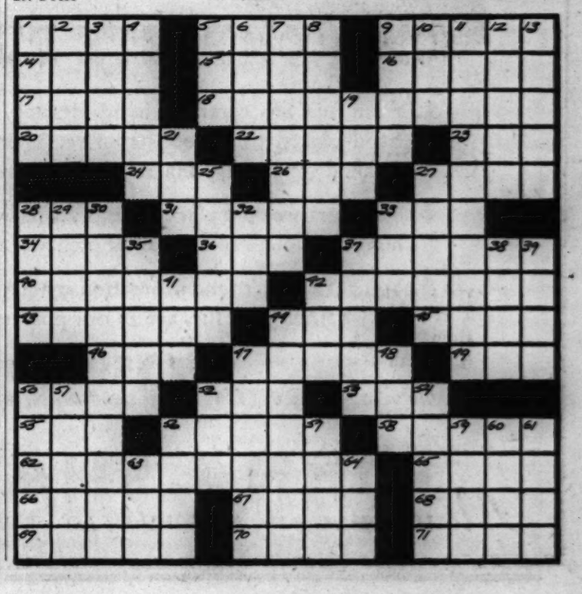
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, MAY 4, SOLVED





FRANCE WARNED OF PERIL FROM HITLER'S EXILES

Told They Seek Peace Favoring Germany.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 5.—What is considered a significant warning against the "sixth column" and its propaganda activity within allied nations was voiced today by Henri Pichot, disabled veteran of the world war and president of the French Ex-Service Legion.

By the "sixth column," Pichot means German exiles abroad who, "altho sincerely anti-Hitlerian, remain German at heart and are propagandizing for an incomplete and defective peace which, leaving Germany intact, will allow her to begin again."

Thyssen Called Spearhead.

Writing in Les Heures de la Guerre, Pichot refers to the exiled Fritz Thyssen, Ruhr millionaire and onetime supporter of Hitler, as "the spearhead of the sixth column which, while enjoying shelter in allied lands, is assiduously at work to prevent Germany from being crushed. We do not reproach Herr Thyssen and his fellow exiles with remaining good Germans, but we must be as ardently French as they are German.

Smashing of Column Urged.

"Herr Thyssen has given us a necessary warning, perhaps, despite himself. He has also pointed out a real peril and an imperative duty: the sixth column like all others must be smashed."

Pichot was for many years an indefatigable advocate of Franco-German rapprochement and had friendly relations with the Nazi leaders, including Hitler. Today he represents the French ex-service man's viewpoint, which demands a complete knockout of Germany.

PAL OF SCALISE IS HUNTED ON KIDNAP CHARGE

New York, May 5 [Special].—Joe Adonis, Brooklyn racketeer and crony of Tammany politicians, was sought by the police tonight on a warrant charging him with kidnaping, extortion, and assault. This revelation followed the arrest in Los Angeles yesterday of Sam Gasberg, one of his lieutenants. Gasberg is accused of the same crimes.

Adonis, whose real name is Doto, and Gasberg are jointly accused of having abducted Isidore Wapinsky, a small time racketeer, in 1932. Wapinsky borrowed money from Adonis and promised large profits. When the profits failed to materialize he was held for $5,000 ransom. The assault charge is based on the fact that when Wapinsky was returned to his family 30 days later he was bleeding externally and internally and lived only a month.

Adonis is the leader of the notorious gang organized by Frankie Uale, victim of a gang assassination 10 years ago. He was intimate with office holders, judges, political district leaders, and had sway over several neighborhood clubs in Brooklyn, a Democratic stronghold. Among his cronies is George Scalise, ex-convict panderer and ousted boss of the Building Service Employés' union, who is under indictment on charges of extortion.

4,000 New Voters Pay a Tribute to the Flag

Tulsa, Okla., May 5 (AP).—Four thousand new voters, pledged to protect democracy with ballots, today massed before the American flag in Skelly stadium here and took an oath of allegiance. The 4,000 were newly naturalized citizens and native born youths recently become of voting age. The ceremony was sponsored by the Tulsa County Citizenship Council, Inc., whose avowed object is to prompt new voters to cherish their right of ballot. Chief Justice Wayne W. Bayless of Oklahoma administered the oath of allegiance.

   [a] Have somebody time you exactly while you write the letters of the alphabet in a-b-c order and as fast as you can without slurring them so they are illegible. Record the time.
   [b] Now take a fresh sheet of paper and see how long it takes to write the letters of the alphabet in reverse order, as z-y-x, etc. Your time here should be much longer than before. If it is no more than double the time in [a], you deserve five points. If it falls between double and treble, you get three points. And if it lies between treble and quadruple your original time, you deserve one point. See the answer page for a discussion of the importance of this to advertisers.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

G. O. P. TO ALLOW A FULL WEEK TO DRAFT PLATFORM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—In the interest of mature deliberation, the members designate of the resolutions committee will meet one week before the assembling of the Republican national convention to begin the work of framing the Republican platform. The convention will meet June 24 in Philadelphia.

John M. Hamilton.

Chairman John M. Hamilton of the Republican national committee today announced that party leaders thruout the country are giving universal approval of the plan for assembling the committee.

"I have received letters from state chairmen and national committee members representing 36 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii," Hamilton said. "All approve the plan to have the delegates who will comprise the resolutions committee meet in advance of the convention.

"Therefore, we shall proceed with plans for a meeting of the members designate of the resolutions committee in Philadelphia on June 17."

Cold Blood Can Be Used for Transfusions, Reds Report

MOSCOW, May 5 (AP).—The discovery that cold as well as warm blood can be used in transfusions was reported today in a dispatch to the communist newspaper Pravda from Khabarovsk, in far eastern Siberia. Such a discovery would be especially important in time of war. Injections with warm blood require at least 30 minutes, Pravda said, whereas the new tests show that blood can be injected the moment it is taken from the refrigerator.

GARNER CONTROL OF DEMOCRATIC TEXAS PERILED

Battles for California's 44 Delegates.

Dallas, Tex., May 5 (AP).—Delegates pledged to President Roosevelt threaten the control of John N. Garner over the 254 county conventions of Texas Democrats next Tuesday.

John N. Garner.

The Vice President won heavy support yesterday at thousands of precinct meetings thruout his home state.

But uninstructed delegations, incomplete returns showed, may hold the balance of power at meetings designed to pick and instruct county delegations to the state Democratic convention in Waco May 28.

Highly industrialized southeast Texas and the rich farming belt in the big state's middle favored the President strongly at precinct conventions.

Garner Wins Big Cities.

Garner won control of the big cities, Houston, Dallas, and San Antonio. In Fort Worth, where Elliott Roosevelt lives, President Roosevelt got almost a 2 to 1 delegation.

In San Antonio, where Mayor Maury Maverick, former New Deal congressman, had opposed Garner, the Vice President won. Beaumont and Port Arthur favored President Roosevelt 2 to 1. Houston gave Garner 600 delegates; Roosevelt, 425; Secretary of State Hull, 16, and 226 were not pledged.

Direct Fight at Governor.

San Francisco, Cal., May 5 (AP).—Charges that supporters of Vice President Garner are seeking to use the pending recall movement against Gov. Culbert Olson for political publicity unfavorable to a Roosevelt-pledged delegation added heat to the California primary campaign today.

The governor heads the harmony slate in behalf of a third term for the President. It is one of four groups contending for Democratic supremacy in next Tuesday's contest for 44 votes in the Democratic national convention.

Recall petitions, accusing the governor of incompetency, inefficiency, and violation of election pledges, were filed yesterday in several counties.

In addition to the Roosevelt and Garner delegations two other groups are seeking the state's 44 votes in the convention. They are a so-called liberal-left wing group, neither for nor against Roosevelt, and a ham and egg delegation.

DEWEY CONFERS WITH GREEN AND OTHER LEADERS

Humorous Incidents of Tour Thru West Told.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

In relaxed mood after winding up his western tour, Thomas E. Dewey, presidential candidate who was the leading Republican vote getter in the Illinois primary, visited yesterday in the Palmer house with Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, and other G. O. P. leaders. Their visit lasted an hour and a half, between trains on Dewey's trip home.

It was the first conference of Dewey and Green, altho they met when Dewey spoke in the Chicago Stadium on March 28. Both are famed for fighting the underworld, Dewey as New York district attorney, Green as former United States attorney here.

Humorous Incidents Recalled.

Dewey chuckled as he recalled humorous incidents of his trip. At one train stop along the route, he said, he was still speaking on the rear platform when the locomotive jerked the cars. Dewey had to grab a rail to keep from going overboard. A woman in the listening throng spoke up: "I almost had the next president of the United States in my lap!"

An aid informed Dewey that at Marshalltown, Ia., where he spoke Saturday night, an admirer had promised to send him two head of choice brown Swiss cattle. At the banquet there he already had received two prize pigs for his new farm in New York state.

"If this keeps up I'll have to get out of politics and take up my farming on a full time basis," Dewey observed.

Delayed in Colorado.

Dewey's western trip started April 15. His tour was delayed for several day in Colorado Springs, Colo., where he was ordered to rest in bed for an upset stomach.

"It seems to be generally agreed that the Illinois delegates will be for Dewey," said Leonard C. Reid, his Illinois manager.

Hill Blackett, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, who was standing next to Reid at the moment, was asked for his comment. He had none.

HIT-RUN VICTIM'S BODY FOUND IN ROOSEVELT ROAD

Daniel Poior, 40 years old, 2348 South Leavitt street, a tailor, was found dead yesterday in front of 4700 Roosevelt road, apparently the victim of a hit-run driver. His body had been hurled against a fire hydrant.

William M. Doan, 63, of Crown Point, Ind., was killed and three others were injured last night in a collision of two cars at the intersection of new U. S. Highway 30 and Route 55, five miles south of Gary. Those injured were Lou Janet Suber, 12, also of Crown Point, who was in Doan's car, and Pat and Mrs. Lydia Sullivan, 11330 Forest avenue. They are in Mercy hospital in Gary.

Edward Gengel, 26, of 640 Dickens avenue, a laborer, died in Alexian Brothers hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck in front of 838 Fullerton avenue by an auto driven by Walter Selwoski, 3021 Kimball avenue.

Mrs. Bertha Mekatinski, 80, who has been blind for many years, died in County hospital of injuries indirectly caused by traffic. She was knocked down Feb. 1 at Sheridan road and Pratt boulevard by a pedestrian who jumped away from a passing car. Her home was at 6443 Bosworth avenue.

Policeman Michael Demith, 45 years old, of the Summerdale station, suffered fractures of both legs and internal injuries early today when he was struck by an automobile in front of 5075 Broadway. He was investigating a crash between a truck and a passenger car when a machine driven by Irving Johnson, 19, of 1809 Lawrence avenue, a clerk, struck Demith. Adner Ettinger, 30, of 3112 Leland avenue, driver of the car in the first accident also was injured.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 291 persons had been killed in auto accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 223 were killed in Chicago, where 7,128 were injured in traffic accidents in the same period.

CAIRO DISTRICT SHOWS INCREASE IN VOTE FOR G.O.P.

If Gains Continue Keller May Lose Congress Seat

Cairo, Ill., May 5 [Special].—Illinois' southernmost congressional district, the 25th, cast 41,720 Republican votes in the April 9 primary, a definite indication of increased friendliness toward the party.

The largest previous Republican total among available records was the 40,390 cast in 1936, the second Democratic landslide year. The increase over that figure was 3.3 per cent. But the increase over the total in the last preceding congressional primary, that of 1938, when 28,331 Republicans voted, was 47 per cent.

Artificial Lake Unpopular.

If the trend shown continues until the election of Nov. 5, the analysts here say, Congressman Kent E. Keller of Crab Orchard lake fame, who has served five terms at Washington, may be defeated.

Two years ago he won by only 5,204 and since that time, it is said, many of his old followers have left him because of the unpopularity of his artificial lake project and his complete subservience to the New Deal.

Totals for Primary Winners.

Thomas E. Dewey, president	34,463
C. W. Bishop, congressman	17,680
Joe Crain, national delegate	19,103
Cole L. Jones, national delegate	14,975
Wayland Brooks, United States senator	26,421
Dwight H. Green, governor	17,161
Hugh W. Cross, lieutenant governor	20,044
Justus L. Johnson, secretary of state	14,126
Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor	3,348
Warren Wright, state treasurer	7,414
George F. Barrett, attorney general	7,019
William G. Stratton, congress at large	15,744
Stephen A. Day, congress at large	7,073

Thomas E. Dewey received a much larger vote than either of the contestants in the presidential preference voting four years ago. His total was 34,463, compared to the 1936 figures of 20,228 for Frank Knox and 15,863 for the late Senator William E. Borah.

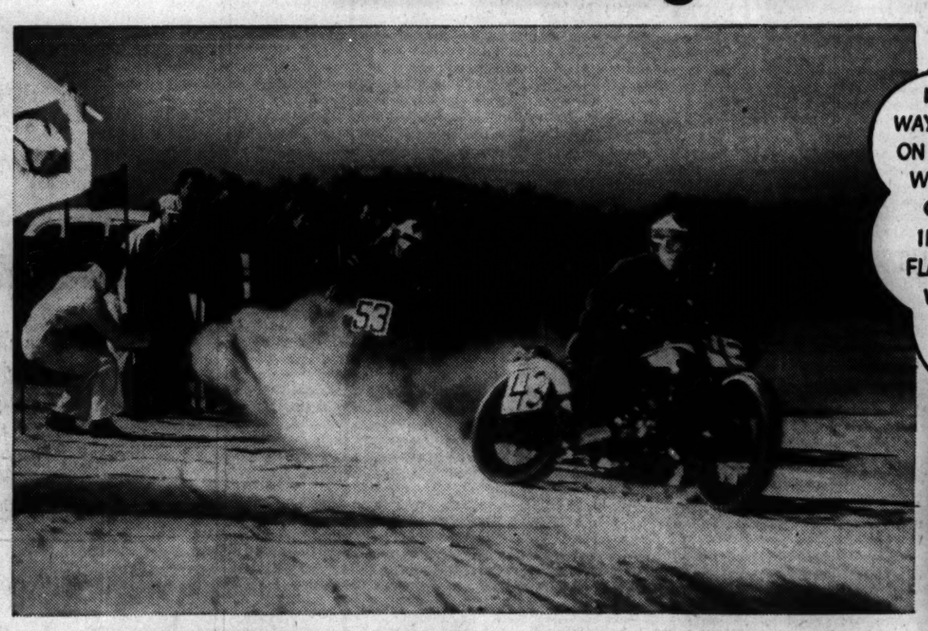
says Jimmie Kelly, Champion Motor-cycle Racer and Enthusiastic Camel Smoker



ON THE FAST SIDE—A 50-mile-an-hour skid, and Jimmie Kelly (No. 43) whips into the lead on the ocean beach at Daytona. On a racing motor-cycle Jimmie Kelly is a riding champion, but when it comes to cigarettes, this record-breaking driver is...

ON A MOTOR-CYCLE I GO FOR SPEED IN A BIG WAY, BUT I KEEP MY SMOKING ON THE SLOW-BURNING SIDE WITH CAMELS. THAT WAY I GET A LOT OF 'EXTRAS'—IN MILDNESS, COOLNESS, FLAVOR—AND CAMEL'S SLOW WAY OF BURNING MEANS EXTRA SMOKING PER PACK

"ON THE SLOW SIDE"—That's Jimmie Kelly's way—and the way of millions of other smokers—of saying that he prefers the slower-burning cigarette... Camel. "That's where the 'extras' are in cigarette pleasure and value," explains Jimmie (above).

CHAMPION Jimmie Kelly (right, above) is just one of thousands of experienced smokers who have discovered that Camel's slower way of burning means several definite advantages. Being slower-burning, Camels are free from the drying, uncomfortable qualities of excess heat. They give you extra mildness and extra coolness... always so welcome. Slower burning makes the most of the full, rich flavor of Camel's costlier tobaccos. Camels give you extra flavor ...don't tire your taste. The extra smoking in Camels is a matter of the smokers' experience as well as of impartial laboratory record. So get more pleasure per puff and more puffs per pack. Get Camels. Penny for penny, Camels are your best cigarette buy!

● In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to Rain and darkness increase driving hazards, but The News must be delivered in spite of weather conditions.

FOR THREE CONSECUTIVE YEARS

The New York News has won highest honors for safe operation of its delivery trucks

For the third year in a row, The New York News has won highest honors in the metropolitan area for safe operation of its delivery trucks. The Greater New York Safety Council made the award to The News at its recent 11th annual convention, for having come through 1939 with the lowest accident total of any newspaper fleet in the New York area. In that period, the 183 News trucks and other newspaper delivery vehicles (which comprise the largest newspaper truck fleet in this area) travelled a total of 2,914,620 miles ... and accidents averaged only 7.85 per 100,000 miles. The term "accidents" includes all accidents, even the smallest window or counter breakage at some delivery point.

The Greater New York Safety Council divides trucks into some 25 classes—newspaper, department store, utility, milk, ice, coal delivery, bakery, etc.... and awards a safety citation in each class each year to the safest operator.

The News had the honor to win first place for the past two years. Prior to that, in 1937, The News won a local safe truck operation contest staged by nine newspapers.

What this all adds up to is that The News record for 1938 and 1939 was not only tops for the New York area but also tops in the newspaper truck class for the whole United States. And up to now, in 1940, The News safety record is still tops!

The News does everything possible to keep its truck fleet in the highest state of efficiency for safe driving. As a matter of policy, The News invariably trades in all trucks after they have been in service for three years. Thus, every year, we exchange one-third of our trucks for new ones, reducing liability to accident. Our two modern garages have every safety testing device. Each truck every day is given a thorough, careful inspection, brakes are checked, and all parts of the mechanism examined for any sign of defect which would increase driving hazards. Any truck not found in the highest state of efficiency is immediately taken from service until it has been restored to perfect operating order.

Editorially, by cartoons, and in every way possible, The News year in and year out has hammered on safe automobile operation. So we are deeply gratified that our delivery fleet has achieved a safety mark for others to shoot at. The News thanks the drivers, the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' Union of New York and Vicinity, the circulation department, garage mechanics and maintenance men and everybody else concerned with delivery, for having made possible the winning of the award.

The News has the largest circulation of any newspaper in America—and we get the five daily editions with spot news and advertisers' messages into the hands of the public in record quick time. The News is doubly proud that it achieves its vast distribution with both Speed and Safety.

SCIENCE PONDERS EFFECTS OF NEW PHYSICAL TITAN

Question: Will It Be Force for Good or for Evil?

Will U-235, the newly discovered natural substance, reduce the present sources of physical power to the status of toys? Will it be a force for great good or for greater evil?

These problems were discussed yesterday by scientists and laymen after the announcement Saturday that scientists at the Universtiy of Minnesota and Columbia university had isolated the substance, a chemical twin of uranium, in small but pure quantities. It was estimated that 10 pounds of the substance would have the energy-giving force of 50 million pounds of coal.

But it may be 10 years or more, engineers estimated, before 10 pounds of the substance can be extracted from its source and put to practical use.

Like Getting Gold from Ocean.

"Economically the present prospects of U-235 are just as feasible as getting gold out of the ocean," said Prof. Samuel K. Allison of the physics department of the University of Chicago. "We know there are billions of ounces of gold in the seas, but we haven't the means to get it out."

He predicted, however, that if methods are developed to extract sufficient amounts of the substance the results in science and every day life will be far reaching.

"U-235 is a powerful source of radiation, tremendously more so than radium," Prof. Allison said. "Precautions will have to be set up so that when a large amount is concentrated there will be no danger of any one in the vicinity being killed by its terrific power."

Discovered by U. of C. Scientist.

Prof. A. J. Dempster, another member of the university's physics department, was the first scientist to discover the presence of U-235 in uranium. The discovery was made in 1935. Uranium, which was isolated in 1789, is a radioactive element found in pitchblende, the brown-black mineral which also is the source of radium.

A minute fraction of a gram of U-235 was extracted last February by Prof. Alfred O. Nier in a University of Minnesota physics laboratory. This was sent to Columbia university, where Prof. John Dunning and his associates, using one ten-millionth of a gram of U-235 in the university's atom smasher, brought out the substance's potentialities.

Scientists have reckoned that a pound of the new substance would be 30 million times as powerful as the same amount of dynamite. Its use as war material, they said, would be of tremendous advantage to a belligerent.

Moving a Bridge

Steel bridge 706 feet long and weighing 1,160 tons, located at Central and Grand avenues, which is being moved 40 feet sideways.

A steel bridge 706 feet long and weighing 1,160 tons took a little trip yesterday. It was moved sideways 40 feet to a new site as part of the construction of a new $808,000 Central avenue viaduct at Grand avenue. The total improvement will be 3,886 feet long and is to be completed in a year. Temporary approaches and piers have been constructed on either end of the bridge.

Two hundred workmen, using jacks, pulleys, and rollers, worked three hours moving the bridge. They loosened thousands of connecting pieces so that its 2,320,000 pounds could be raised on jacks and placed on rollers.

Then, inch by inch—at a rate of about a foot every five minutes—the bridge was eased over by seven pulleys and set into its new position. Regular bus service on Central avenue will be resumed at 9 a. m. today.

STRITCH PRESIDES AT DEDICATION OF NEW CHURCH

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch yesterday dedicated the new $270,000 Queen of Angels Catholic church, 2330 Sunnyside avenue. Work on this edifice, first to be dedicated by the newly enthroned archbishop, was begun in 1938 under the direction of the Rev. John V. Malley who then was pastor, and was completed last November by the Rev. John J. Doody. About 1,700 families belong to the parish. Archbishop Stritch presided at the solemn high mass which was offered by the Rev. Terrence O'Brien of St. Columbkille church.

CHICAGO'S POLES OBSERVE DATE OF CONSTITUTION

Chicagoans of Polish descent held a large parade and ceremonies yesterday commemorating the 149th anniversary of Polish Constitution day.

An estimated 50,000 persons took part in the parade and more than 100,000 in the ceremonies in Humboldt park. Mayor Kelly, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, and other city and county officials and Polish leaders of the city took part. Speakers pledged that Poland, now overrun by Germany and Russia, would be free again.

The parade, which lasted more than two hours, began at Division and Noble streets, proceeded west to Ashland avenue, south to Augusta boulevard, and west to Mozart street. From that point the parade turned north and marched to the Kosciuszko monument in the park. Every Polish organization in the city took part.

2 BABY ORANGS KEEP EYES ON CURTAIN CALLS

BY MARCIA WINN.

The Lincoln park zoo's two new baby orang-utans are learning rapidly how to act like the prima donnas they are.

This became apparent yesterday as crowds continued to stream to their glassed-in cages. The two Sumatran babies, who were flown to Chicago from New Jersey in a CHICAGO TRIBUNE plane on April 23, at last are taking notice of their public.

The little female, 2 years old, tiny and wistful, at first slept while her admirers peered. Now she peers back at them. She advances with stumbling feet toward the bars of her new home, stands like a wizened little opera star with her long red fur flowing about her like a cape, and grimaces.

An Aerial Gymnast.

The young male, known to zoo attendants as "Roughneck," also formerly was aloof. Now, armed with a wooden club that he never releases, he does aerial gymnastics with an eye for the dramatic effect. Even when lying down, club still grasped by his feet, he looks questioningly out to see who is looking.

The pair apparently like Chicago as much as Chicago likes them, for both have gained weight during the first 10 days of their stay here. The female has gained 1½ pounds, Director Floyd S. Young said, but the male's gain is only a guess, for, exponent of perpetual motion that he is, he cannot be coaxed into repose long enough to sit on the scales.

"He's a roughneck," said Young. "He's not mean, but he wants to be doing something all the time. He's into something every chance he gets.

Chews Up Baseball.

"I gave them both indoor baseballs. He bit right thru his, thinking it was an orange. We can't put his bed in his cage during the day, for he tears it up. Yesterday he had a tow-sack, and the first thing we knew he was inside it biting his way out.

"We're going to get him something tough to play with. I'm having some Indian clubs and some dumbbells made for him."

The female, however, is like a human baby, he said. She wants to be carried and cuddled. She sleeps three or four hours a day and wants her bottle of milk when she wakes up.

"The only trouble," Young said, "is that it's hard to see the animals most of the time. People crowd around them so deep that many persons can't see the baby orang. They think she isn't there."

TO WIN AN ELECTION IN OKLAHOMA, JUST RUN AS 'WILL ROGERS'

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 5 (AP).—An Oklahoma voter certainly has to know his candidate's full name, because "shadow" filings have thrown the primary campaign into a turmoil.

The splurge of "famous" and "shadow" name candidates hit a peak two years ago, when the ballot listed such candidates as "Mae West," "Daniel Boone," and "Oliver Cromwell."

In 1932 a school teacher, Will Rogers, ran for congressman at large. His chances were considered slim, but Oklahoma is the home of the late Will Rogers, philosopher and humorist, and the school teacher won by an overwhelming majority.

This year, William H. Murray, former governor, filed against Congressman Rogers, and then William A. Murray, a farmer, entered the race. Another Will Rogers, a draftsman, is in the running; Josh Lee, a carpenter whose name is the same as the state's junior senator, has entered, and so has an Elmer Thomas, whose name is the same as that of Oklahoma's senior senator.

Helen Richey Granted CAA License to Teach Flying

New York, May 5 (AP).—Helen Richey, a co-holder of the women's endurance flight record and a veteran of more than 1,000 hours in the air, was granted an instructor's license today by the Civil Aeronautics authority. Miss Richey, daughter of a McKeesport, Pa., physician, said she planned to teach flying. Co-pilot for Central Airlines in 1935 on the Detroit-Washington route, she won the distinction of being the only woman to have flown the air mail on an established line.

GERMANY PREFERS SWEDEN NEUTRAL.

For several years previous to 1914, Sweden, Norway, and Denmark combined bought about 35 million dollars' worth of American products each year. When the world war broke out these countries immediately increased their purchases from us many-fold. Instead of 35 million dollars' worth of goods they bought 91 million dollars' worth in 1914, then 205 million dollars' worth in 1915 and 171 million dollars' worth in 1917.

The Scandinavians did not need all of this for their own use. They were buying from us to resell to Germany at a profit, as they had a perfect right to do as neutrals. As soon as we entered the war the blockade of Germany was on in earnest and our exports to Sweden, Denmark, and Norway, after allowing for the war-time rise in prices, fell back to pre-war proportions.

From 1934 to 1938 the annual exports of American goods to Scandinavian countries varied between 64 million dollars and 112 million dollars per year. Immediately after the present war broke out American export trade with Sweden, Norway, and Denmark soared precisely as in the world war. In the six months to the end of February, 1940, our exports to the three countries amounted to 105 million dollars, or at the rate of 210 million dollars per year. For the same period one year earlier the total was 57 million dollars. Some very nice profits have no doubt been made bringing in goods from the United States and selling them to the Germans.

Germany invaded Norway when the British attempted in earnest to prevent goods from the United States from reaching the enemy via Scandinavia. No doubt Germany would have preferred the arrangement with Norway which existed before April 9. And there is every reason to believe that Germany doesn't want to invade Sweden if trade with Sweden can be continued as it was in the early part of the world war and in the early months of the present war.

Peacetime Germany drew two-fifths of her iron ore supply from Sweden and much of the other 59 per cent from France. With other sources cut off, Swedish ore is indispensable. At peace Sweden finds it to her advantage to sell great quantities of ore to Germany, and to supply many other products she used to buy elsewhere. A neutral Sweden is also a means of getting from other neutral countries goods which the British have called contraband. There are no British contraband control stations in the Baltic. Germany won't invade Sweden unless compelled to do so by the allies, because Hitler knows he can get more out of Sweden as a valued customer than as a hated conqueror.

NEW DEAL IN SPAIN.

A dispatch from Madrid the other day reported that the bread ration in Spain has been halved. Instead of a half pound of bread a day, the Spaniard will be allowed only a little more than a quarter of a pound. A later dispatch indicated the ration may be even smaller. There is a shortage of wheat in the country.

Here is another evidence of the failure of New Deal economics. Spain is committed to a controled or planned economy. The system was adopted in the belief that a free economy is inefficient, particularly in providing the necessities of life to the less prosperous sections of the population. In practice, it is the planned economy which has been disappointing. It was supposed to be particularly helpful in a period of emergency, but in fact the burocrats have made a mess of things. Unfortunately, it is the people of Spain who must pay for the mistake in hunger and privation, a belief only emphasized by the latest dispatch which said that the government has been forced to give special consideration to the poor in the matter of food rationing.

UBIQUITOUS INGREDIENT.

A chart on the financial page shows the amazing increase in the production of soy beans in the United States. In 15 years the growth has been from 4.9 million bushels to 87.4 million bushels. In 10 years the increase has been nine-fold. A further expansion is taking place this year. Farmers have reported to the department of agriculture that they will sow 10½ million acres to soy beans in 1940, a million and a half acres more than in 1939. That should mean a 100 million bushel crop.

Soy beans sell for about the same price as wheat, and about as much can be produced per acre. This new crop goes a long way toward replacing the lost foreign market for wheat. Previous to the depression the annual export of wheat fluctuated about the 200 million mark. Following the drouth years, when exports declined to less than 25 million bushels, foreign shipments rose to 107 million bushels in 1938 and 98 million bushels in 1939. What farmers lost in the foreign wheat market they have gained back in soy beans.

The soy bean is certainly an ubiquitous ingredient, especially valuable as animal feed. It is used in making auto gear shift knobs, linoleum, and candy. One of the largest uses is in the paint and varnish industry. Some varieties of soy beans are palatable and are served as table vegetables. Other edible uses are in bakery goods, ice cream, soup, and sausage.

A hundred million bushel soy bean crop testifies to the accomplishments of industrial chemists toward solving the farm problem. If, as seems possible, the present utilization of soy beans could be doubled, the effect upon farm income will be impressive. Any farmer would prefer to have his income supplemented in such a way, rather than by public grants, which are made at the whim of politicians.

VICTORY FOR CORRUPTION.

The Hatch clean politics bill was chloroformed in the judiciary committee of the house, in accordance with New Deal orders. The methods employed were certainly unprecedented and, in addition, may well have been scandalous.

Contrary to the usual procedure, the members of the committee did not put themselves on record individually. Instead, each member was given a slip of paper, one end of which was marked "aye" and the other "no." The members were instructed to tear the slip and deposit an "aye" or "no" vote in a hat which was passed from man to man. It was announced that the division was 14 to 10 for tabling the bill. That was on Wednesday.

The suspicions of Congressman Dempsey of New Mexico, a Democrat, were aroused by this extraordinary method of handling public business. He had led the fight for the bill, thought he knew the views of the committee members, and could not believe that the result of the vote as announced was a true expression of the committee's attitude. He investigated quietly and on Friday made the startling announcement that 14 members of the committee had reported to him they had favored the bill. If they told him the truth the bill was killed by gross treachery and dishonesty.

The bill was intended to prohibit partisan activity by employés of state and local governments who received part or all of their pay from federal appropriations. Democratic national committeemen are known to have exerted all the pressure they could bring to bear to defeat the measure for, if enacted, it would have materially lessened the weight of the New Deal machine in the November election. An immense army of jobholders would have been obliged to choose between remaining on the pay roll and engaging in organizational work for the New Deal. Employés of the Illinois highway department, for example, would have been forbidden to take an active part in precinct work because state road funds are supplied in part from the federal treasury.

The Hatch law now on the books despite the opposition of the New Deal, which fought it openly, places similar restrictions on the partisan activities of federal pay rollers, excepting only the highest placed among them, such as cabinet officers. The Hatch bill which was smothered on Wednesday would have extended the same wholesome practice to federally supported political machines in the various states. The best that can be said of the committee's action is that a sound measure was defeated by stealth in the privacy of a committee room. The worst is that the bill was killed by treachery and corruption.

The abuse of public appropriations for political advantage is as old as politics. For longer than any one can remember the advocates of good government have protested against pork-barrel legislation. Under the New Deal with its stupendous appropriations and subsidies, this old abuse has grown to such vast proportions that it demands correction if the republic is to survive. Formerly the administration in Washington had relatively insignificant sums at its disposal with which to corrupt state political machines; today the easy money is measured in billions and there is no lack of evidence to prove that it is used ruthlessly for political advantage. Mr. Roosevelt so employed it, to choose but one example, in his attempt to purge the senators who opposed his court packing plan.

The bill was killed because the administration intends to use public money for corruption. The Democrats are none too optimistic about their chances in November as it is and know that if their state machines are not oiled with federal money, defeat can hardly be avoided. That's why the Hatch bill was smothered.

As the killing of the bill was intended to protect corruption, it is well within the probabilities that corruption was employed at the committee stage. Gentlemen who desire to buy votes with money from the public treasury would hardly balk at stealing a few votes in a committee, particularly if they didn't expect to get caught at it.

Mr. Dempsey by Saturday had obtained a hundred signatures to his petition to override the committee and place the bill before the house. It is to be hoped and expected that there are 218 members of the house who have been sufficiently outraged by the proceedings to sign the petition and thus rebuke the committee and redeem the good name of the house.

Editorial of the Day

NOT THE ISSUE.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

The vigorous and successful campaign against labor racketeering in New York brings the arrest of an ex-convict who heads an A. F. L. union of building service employés. He is accused of extorting more than $100,000 from hotels and window-cleaning firms.

George Scalise, the accused man, will have his day in court. If he is innocent he should be able to prove it, since he will have the best legal talent at his disposal.

Meanwhile his charge that "politics" is behind his arrest is wholly unconvincing. The investigation which leads to these extortion charges has been under way for years under the direction of Thomas E. Dewey. The arrest was ordered at this time, Dewey explains, because Scalise was about to go to Chicago, where he would have been outside the jurisdiction of the New York prosecutor. Since Scalise was arrested a few hours after he hurried to New York with a couple of suit cases, Dewey's procedure would seem highly prudent.

It is true that the very effective work of Prosecutor Dewey in breaking up labor and other rackets has brought him well-merited fame. He has been praised for this achievement by many who may not be at all interested in his presidential aspirations. On the other hand, the prosecution at this time of a powerful leader of the A. F. L. might conceivably stir up serious opposition for a man actively seeking the presidency.

So the "politics" cry sounds rather silly. In any event, it begs the question. The real issue is the importance of protecting the public, including organized labor, from racketeering.

THE "STUDENT PRINCE" TRAIL.

The source of the operetta, "The Student Prince," which will be the next production of W-G-N's "Theater of the Air," was a novel by Wilhelm Meyer-Förster called "Karl Heinrich," published in Germany in 1899. Apparently it has never been translated into English. The author was also a playwright and he adapted the story into a play called "Alt Heidelberg," which had its première in Berlin on Nov. 22, 1901. The first actor of the central rôle was Wilhelm Walden; the first Käthie was Leonie Taliansky.

"Alt Heidelberg" was an immediate hit and was staged by every stock company in the country. Richard Mansfield, then at the height of his popularity, secured the American rights and the "Old Heidelberg" vogue in this country began. He toured the country in this romantic comedy of German university life in the season of 1903-'04; his Chicago engagement was at the Grand Opera house. It may be added that the travel sketches of Mark Twain had familiarized the American public with the customs of German student corps.

Among the echoes of Mansfield's success was a song for male chorus in the comic opera, "The Prince of Pilsen." It became the favorite American college song of the period and many gray-haired alumni still remember some of the words:

O, Heidelberg, dear Heidelberg,
Thy sons shall not forget;
The golden haze of student days
Is round about you yet.

More than 20 years later—in 1924, to be precise—the play became the libretto of an operetta by Sigmund Romberg and "The Student Prince" vogue set in. Musically, it must be noted, this piece is entirely American, altho the score contains brief passages from classic German student chants, such as "Gaudeamus Igitur." The show has had more performances on the American stage than any other lyrical work of record.

P. S. The student corps, in their old forms, have been abolished by the Hitler régime.

MOCKERY OF SPRING.

This is not spring. Tho cold has fled the earth;
Tho round the hill blithe Maytime trips again
And sounds her trump to cheer the hearts of men;
Tho violets and lilies come to birth
Tho streams sing low and orchards burst to bloom,
And thru the woodlands children find free room
For their young hearts, the winter holds—how long!
This vernal joy deceives me not. I hear
The men of blood, their crimson flags unfurled,
Lead armies to new wars. All hearts shriek fear.
Mankind is massed to kill, for hate is king.

Early History of a Famous Theater.

The La Salle theater was originally known [1900] as the Blue Ribbon Music hall, which had a stage, tables, and chairs, and plenty of beer. Lou Houseman was instrumental in bringing together State Senator Al Campbell, Banker Harry Dubis, Merchant Ralph Malzer, and the two Frank brothers, Abe and Harry, who remodeled the old beer hall into the New Orpheon Music hall, so called because Lou Houseman's tiny theater next to the Chicago Opera house, called the Orpheon, had burned.

The opening attraction was "Chow Chow," in which Dave Lewis, Al Shean, and Nat Haines were the comics, and Ida Emerson the prima donna. Her husband, Joe Howard, was stage manager and there was a chorus man named Cecil Lean. "Chow Chow" was followed by "The Paraders," "Rubes and Roses," "Lilies and Lobsters," and finally by "The Voyagers," written by Frieda Hall, wife of the dramatic critic, O. L. Hall.

Then Houseman stepped out and E. R. Mackay became manager. The name was changed to the La Salle, and the opening attraction was "The Isle of Spice," followed by "The Royal Chef," "The Belle of Newport," and "His Highness the Bey." Lewis and Shean came and went as chief comics but the chorus man, Lean, came along and when Mackay stepped out as manager and Al Campbell stepped in, the play was "The Isle of Bong Bong" and Lean's star was rising. He had married the soubrette, Florence Holbrook, and together they watched their names go up in lights as "featured" players in "The Yankee Regent."

A squabble among the partners brought Mort Singer into the picture and, backed by Herman Fehr of Milwaukee, he took over the house during the run of that play, raised Lean and Holbrook into stellar rank and produced "The Umpire" and "The Time, the Place, and the Girl." He found new star material in Georgie Drew Mendum and Junie McCrea, who topped the cast in "The Girl Question." The rest of the story is plain sailing. How do I know? Well, I was in the box office and sold the tickets.

The Discovery of Absolute Zero.

Your reference [May 1] to Bernard Shaw's utterance regarding his fellow countryman ["Where there is nothing, there is William Butler Yeats"] brings to mind the story of a certain Rev. Pryce, famed for his eloquence. He accepted a challenge to preach extempore on any text that should be handed to him in the pulpit. When he found only a blank piece of paper he immediately delivered an eloquent sermon on I. Kings xviii., 43:

"And he went up and looked, and said, 'There is nothing'."

WHEN MAN BITES MAN.

We are all familiar with the old saw, "When a man bites a dog, that is news." But what shall we say when certain humans chew one another? Perhaps the "old wolf" is on the loose.

Strange as it may seem, such incidents are fairly frequent. Perhaps not of daily occurrence in the practice of every busy physician, they are sufficiently common to warrant the collection of a rather long series of cases. One author reported more than 100, while others have recorded 50, 80, 55, etc.

Now, any infection—the planting of bacteria beneath the skin—calls for quick action. Time is the essence of cure. If organisms have been sown deeply within the tissues the area requires immediate cleansing and cauterization to keep noxious invaders from reaching more vital parts thru the lymph channels.

Wounds will heal—even serious ones—without loss of function, if we can only keep germs out of the picture. But the pouring on of some alleged antiseptic is not enough. In fact, it may be just the wrong thing to do. There is no chemical that is potent enough to kill every last one without at the same time destroying the tissues. Of course, we can rely upon nature's resistance and hope that trouble will not follow. But the sensible thing to do is to scrub the region so thoroly with soap and water that no surface organisms will remain. Careless handling with dirty fingers will but add to the contamination.

But what about man inflicted bites? As we know, the mouth is never clean. Perhaps it is not as foul as the air passages; nevertheless it is inhabited by spiral-like bacilli and other forms that grow well in the absence of oxygen. Many of these accidents take place during brawls when an opponent—in desperation—resorts to his teeth. The one who is nipped may win the contest and—in a spirit of bravado assume that "it is but a scratch." Within two or three days, however—despite local first aid—he may be faced with an extensive inflammation which has gone far beyond the local point of inoculation. Fingers, hands, even lives have been lost in consequence. Furthermore, the spreading germs have a tendency to invade joints and to travel along the tendons.

Occasionally mishaps of this sort are sustained by police officers in the discharge of duty and numerous experiences attest to the stubborn character of the infection. A 48 year old officer received a bite on one of his index fingers while making an arrest. The lesion was cared for immediately and—for 24 hours—hot poultices were applied. He returned to duty only to be awakened three nights later with sharp pain and marked swelling of the affected finger, the hand, and the forearm. Several weeks of skilled treatment were demanded to bring complete recovery.

Occasionally organisms will be carried to the bone with the development of osteomyelitis—pus forming in the narrow regions of the structure. This may occur even after apparent healing. A 35 year old man received several teeth lacerations on the right hand. For a time all went well. Later, pus began to ooze from one of the fingers and the puffing increased, red streaks [lymphangitis] stretching upward along the arm. Several incisions were required to provide adequate drainage and convalescence took six weeks.

Regardless of the type of infection, one cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of prompt and skilled treatment. Fortunately, most of us have learned that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. A thoro job of cleansing at the outset will save much suffering later on. This rule should be followed whether the injury has been severe or slight. Even a pin prick may introduce virulent bacilli directly into the circulation.

While we must not become wound conscious—with a finger or a toe wrapped in a bandage most of the time—we can at least be alert to the possibilities of danger and employ every safeguard.

LEG CRAMP.

D. D. writes: What should be done when a cramp occurs in the calf of the leg?

REPLY.

This is a "cry" for more blood. A spasm affecting a vessel may shut off nutrition temporarily. Rubbing the part and employing heat will bring relief. Sometimes cold alone is responsible. If the symptom recurs routinely, investigate your circulation.

COD LIVER OIL.

Mrs. B. writes: When is the proper time to stop giving children cod liver oil?

REPLY.

The safest procedure is to continue the substance until full growth has been attained. During the summer months—with adequate exposure to direct sunlight—the doses may be omitted.

THE EYES AND TOBACCO.

G. T. writes: In what eye conditions is tobacco forbidden?

REPLY.

Nicotine in large quantities is toxic to some individuals and may affect the optic nerve. Those who complain of dimness of vision may well reduce the consumption of tobacco. Follow the counsel of your eye physician.

RAW VEGETABLES.

M. B. writes: Are raw vegetables good for young children?

REPLY.

Yes, if they are mashed, finely divided, or chewed thoroly. Some, however, are quite indigestible—turnips, for example.

THE COLONIAL MINDED EAST.

Evanston, May 3.—The recent article in the Tribune headed "Chorus of War Propagandists Swells in East," is no false statement.

I returned recently from a visit east, and while there found it hard to believe our country was neutral. The conversation of my friends convinced me they were ready to go to war on the side of the allies. Any argument to the contrary branded one as a Nazi.

When Miss Anne Morgan tells the American Friends of France that "America must get away from that terrible word 'security'" she is helping to blast the hopes of every American family and put fear in the hearts of American mothers.

Why have thousands of Europeans left the lands where they were born to become citizens of the United States except for security? It is a precious thing both nationally and personally when work and self denial paid for it.

Perhaps some day, if we survive the wars of Europe, a patriot will head a movement which he will call "the American Friends of America."—E. M. S.

TWO VIEWS OF AN EDITORIAL.

Chicago, May 3.—Every true American owes you a vote of thanks for your smashing editorial, "America in the World of Today and Tomorrow," in today's issue of The Tribune. Especially pertinent and thought provoking were your comments on that peculiarly American obsession of "world responsibility." This phenomenon offers a fine opportunity for some Ph. D. candidate in psychology to work out a thesis on the genesis of this strictly American aberration.

George Borrowman.

Chicago, May 3.—Your hate-Roosevelt mania has made you dopey. Your leading editorial in today's paper could only be written by a man who is in a mental stupor.

Hitler is making a science of war. Aggression and rule-by-force is the single aim of the present Nazi policy. To this aim all the rights of German citizens are sacrificed. Hitlerism must be destroyed or the rights of man will perish.

Wake up, America! It isn't enough to love peace. We must work for it! The people of this country think we are adequately prepared. If anybody who knew anything about it at all thought so, the invasion of Poland and Norway leaves no room for continuing such belief.

Unless you prefer continuing your hate-Roosevelt jag you'll get the facts of our present armament and put them before the people so plainly, so convincingly and so frequently that a lot of congressmen will get ants in their pants in a hurry.

PARKING IN THE AVENUE.

Chicago, May 2.—Dorchester avenue, especially between 67th and 69th streets, is an important thorofare. Cars, however, are parked thickly along the curbs day and night. Instead of using garages, many use the street all night, making it dangerous for adults as well as children to cross the street flanked by parked cars on both sides and with speeding cars in the center.

There is little excuse for this inasmuch as there is plenty of private and public garage space available, which the owners find difficult to rent even at the most reasonable rents. Henry J. Maslov.

THAT CAT IN STONE STREET.

Evanston, Ill., May 1.—I wonder if "Resident on Stone Street" is still looking out of her window and watching the bewildered cat the mother and her little girl abandoned. over this

"I like the old Alabam, it's just like home to me." That's what Mr. M., an important Chicago executive said to us. "You're food just hits the spot, your service is courteous and low-pressure, the friendly spirit of your employes makes me relax, let my hair down and really go to town. No one is austere and formal, I can beat the drum, sing with the orchestra or do a little 'solo' dance without losing dignity or without being conspicuous."

No wonder we're a bit boastful when people tell us things like that. Join the thousands of out-of-towners and Chicagoans who regularly make the Club Alabam one of their "must" spots.

HUNT OTHER LINKS IN ILLINOIS AUTO LICENSE SCANDAL

Question State Aid in Spurious Title Plot.

Springfield, Ill., May 5 (Special).—Investigators today were seeking to learn whether more than one employé of the office of the secretary of state was involved in a conspiracy to furnish title certificates for stolen cars.

Yesterday it was announced that William McHard of Aledo, who has been employed in the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes for six and one-half years, had been dismissed after confessing he had aided automobile thieves.

T. P. Sullivan, chief of the state bureau of investigation, and Richard T. Piper of his staff questioned McHard after the arrest of Merle C. Jobe and William T. Crawley, alias George Ross, at Quincy. Jobe and Crowley were said to be principals in an auto theft ring, the operations of which had interested agents of the federal bureau of investigation who sought evidence of interstate transportation of stolen cars.

Fake Titles Supplied.

McHard admitted having supplied Jobe and Crowley with licenses and fake certificates of title for four cars, according to Piper. Jobe and Crowley plied him with liquor in a Springfield night club called the Gay Nineties, McHard declared, after which he feared to refuse their demands. McHard is said to be coöperating with state investigators and has not been placed under arrest.

McHard is the son of William F. McHard, a farmer whose family has been in Mercer county more than a century. Young McHard is about 30 years old and was married for about two years, but three years ago his wife divorced him in Springfield and since has remarried.

Obtains License to Wed.

McHard is to take another trip to the altar on May 18. Yesterday in Aledo he obtained a license to wed Miss Lucille Stevens, a teacher in the rural Gingles' Corner school near Aledo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Stevens, neighbors of the McHard family. They are to be married in the Methodist church at Aledo.

McHard is a graduate of the Aledo High school and attended the University of Illinois before taking his job in Springfield.

2 YOUNG BANDITS KIDNAP COUPLE IN PARKED AUTO

Two young bandits kidnaped a couple in a parked automobile early yesterday, forced them to drive thru west suburbs, then took the car and used it in two other holdups.

The victims were Miss Ella Loser, 1253 North Harding avenue, and Michael Helmer, 1126 North Central Park avenue. They were parked in Helmer's car in front of Miss Loser's home when the bandits got in. One poked a shotgun at Helmer from the back seat, while the other, armed with a revolver, sat in front.

They then forced Helmer to drive them around for an hour, finally taking $5 from him and ordering the couple out at 43d street and Wolcott avenue. Taverns at 5200 South Wolcott avenue and 4156 South Albany avenue were robbed shortly thereafter by two bandits answering their description. They took $88 in the two robberies.

President, Institute of Life Insurance

HOW long do you think you'll live? Ten years or twenty years longer than your father, grandfather, great-grandfather?

Your chances of surviving from infancy to adulthood are a lot better than they used to be. But, I'm sorry to tell you, once you've reached middle life your chance of living to a ripe old age is about the same as it was a hundred years ago.

Why I bring this up is that someone is always asking me, "If we are living so much longer, why don't my premiums go down?" Did you know that the decline in the rate of interest earned on money in recent years has increased the cost of life insurance far more than the improvement in the death rate has reduced it?

Don't let anybody fool you into believing that the life insurance actuaries—the mathematicians of the business—are making any mistakes. Competition in life insurance would very quickly turn up a cheaper policy if any change in the average length of life for a group of people justified it.

The best hopes for lower insurance costs lie in increased interest rates, not in increased length of life.

NOTE: In this regular Monday column, paid for at advertising rates, the Institute of Life Insurance has asked its president to discuss questions of interest to life insurance policyholders. Inquiries may be addressed to 60 East 42nd Street, New York City.

A LITTLE GIRL, 4½, REMEMBERS TO WATCH THE CARS

The sweet tooth of Judith Malone, 4½ years old, last night ended four hours of anxiety for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Malone of Libertyville. The Malones were visiting the David Coutts family at 2643 Mildred avenue when Judith wandered away in late afternoon from the group of children with whom she was playing. Police were notified; the Malones scoured the neighborhood. Shortly after 9 p. m. Judith was found in a candy store on Belden avenue, 4 blocks away, inspecting the confections on display. She was taken to the Sheffield avenue station. She told her father later that she was a good girl and remembered to look up and down the street for automobiles at every crossing.

Thief Takes Fire Official's Car, and Is Its Hood Red!

When Battalion Chief Albert Bartke finished directing firemen fighting a blaze at 228 North La Claire avenue early yesterday, he looked around for the shiny red car he uses for his work. But it had been stolen during the excitement. Police found it later in an alley behind 431 North Leamington avenue and blamed a joyriding prankster.

FALLS INTO LAKE; DROWNS.

THROW ASIDE THE MASK

WHY fool around with inefficient quack or self treatment when proper medical attention can quickly relieve mental and physical misery that accompanies a venereal disease? Not only will such attention make you look and feel like a different person, but you will be protecting yourself from the disastrous after-effects of improperly treated gonorrhea or syphilis!

For example, unless it is cared for by a skilled physician, gonorrhea may later lead to a sight-destroying eye infection, crippling arthritis, stricture, sterility or serious prostate, bladder, kidney and other troubles. And syphilis can readily be the cause of heart failure, blindness, deafness, locomotor ataxia, paralysis or even insanity. In addition, either of these diseases may make it impossible for you ever to enjoy the blessing of healthy, normal children!

So, if you are afflicted with a venereal infection, make up your mind to throw aside the mask of worry and suffering. Decide right now to take advantage of the friendly, inexpensive services of the Public Health Institute, which in the past 20 years has given more than 5,000,000 examinations and treatments for gonorrhea and syphilis to over 275,000 individual patients!

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS

With separate departments for men and women, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the medical tests which the law requires every couple to have before a marriage license can be obtained. A thorough physical examination, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs $3.00 per person. Those examined before 2 P.M. (at 159 or 169 N. Dearborn St.) can have certificates same day.

Because the Public Health Institute was founded by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, its charges are remarkably low for the expert treatment given. A thorough examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including blood tests, urinalysis and smears, costs little, while individual treatments are easily within the reach of every wage earner.

Furthermore, even those temporarily short of money can arrange to be treated without undergoing an embarrassing credit investigation or signing any papers whatsoever!

PERSONAL LOANS

HOW YOU CAN BORROW $100 IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.43 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors needed—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, private service.

Do you want to get a loan quickly and simply? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $300 without endorsers or guarantors, if you can make regular monthly payments. From the table below you may choose the payment plan which fits your own purse. You may repay a small amount each month. Or you may make larger payments in order to pay up sooner.

Choose your own payment plan

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will find, for instance, that monthly payments of $9.77 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

When you borrow at Household Finance, you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. (Payments shown in the table include all charges. You pay nothing more.)

Household charges only one rate—the same to everyone. This rate is 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100.

All you do to borrow

All you do to get a Household Finance loan is to acquaint us with your problem. We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives—and you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get the money you need in a simple, private transaction.

Fair treatment

Household shows every consideration to the borrower faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan. Last year Household foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 10,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

Find the loan you need in the first column of the table and read across. See how you can repay your loan with a small part of your pay check. Then phone or visit us. You will be under no obligation to borrow.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. Kenneth H. Hess and California Girl Will Wed

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM California comes the news that Miss Georgia Sargent Clifford and Kenneth Hempstead Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miner Hess of Chicago and Wayne, are to be married quietly on the afternoon of June 5. The ceremony will take place in the little Neighborhood church of Pasadena.

Only the families will be present to hear the Rev. Theodore Gerald Soares, formerly of Chicago, read the service. Mr. Hess will bring his bride to Chicago to make their home.

Mrs. Hess and her daughter, Mrs. Winfield T. Durbin II., who is to be the matron of honor, are expected in Pasadena May 20 for the first of the many prenuptial parties planned for Miss Clifford. Mr. Hess will go west 10 days later. As he and Mrs. Hess plan to remain six weeks in the west they are leasing their Wayne home for that period to Mrs. Petillo Mayo.

Young Mr. Hess will accompany his father west. Traveling with them will be John Hansel of Villa Nova, Pa., who is to be best man, and two ushers, Mr. Durbin and Richard Allen of Wayne. Also ushering will be a cousin of the bridegroom, Woodbridge W. Dickinson of Pasadena, formerly of Chicago.

Miss Clifford will have a warm welcome when she arrives here as a bride, for her mother is the former Virginia Montgomery of Evanston. Miss Anna Parsons Clifford is to be her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Miss Virginia Clifford, and Miss Judith Ridgway, daughter of the Carroll Ridgways, former Chicagoans, will be the bridesmaids. Three little cousins of the bride will be junior bridesmaids. They are Judith Illsley and Winifred Hadden of Pasadena and Elizabeth Bennett of Minneapolis.

Lucille Freeman Weds A. C. Clough Jr. May 25.

Miss Lucille Freeman and Allison Cady Clough Jr., are to be married in a small ceremony at 4 o'clock the afternoon of May 25 in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church. An even smaller reception will follow at the Woman's Athletic club.

Miss Freeman, daughter of the William C. Freemans, will have Miss Evelyn Lawrence, Miss Jane Hailand and Miss Virginia Skinner for her bridesmaids. Miss Katherine Antrim of St. Louis, Mo., who was Miss Freeman's roommate at Briarcliff Junior college, will be the maid of honor.

The senior Mr. Clough of Jamestown, N. Y., will be the best man. Ushering will be Temple Fielding of Stamford, Conn., Benjamin Mitchell of Long Island, and Edward Skinner of Winston-Salem, N. C. After a wedding trip Mr. Clough and his bride will be at home in Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Lowden Drake and Fiance to Visit.

Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr. is looking forward to the arrival later this month of her sister, Mrs. Lowden Drake of Bermuda, and her fiancé, Frederick Wierdsma of New York, whose engagement was announced yesterday. Mrs. Drake and Mr. Wierdsma are to be married in July.

After waiting for several months to join her fiancé in England, Miss Elizabeth Ann Poole and her father, Ernest Poole, sailed for Europe last Saturday. They will land in Italy and go on to London, where Miss Poole and Henry Robert Lanchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Lanchester, will be married this spring.

The Erskine P. Wilder family went to Des Moines, Ia., on Saturday to attend a tea at which the engagement of Miss Jean Spaulding to Henry P. Wilder was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest B. Spaulding. The party was given at the Spaulding home.

The Thomas E. Wilders [Gene Manning] and David and Erskine Wilder Jr. all were present for the announcement. The bridegroom-to-be attended the Asheville school and is a senior at Iowa State college, where he is a member of Cardinal Key.

Miss Spaulding is a graduate of the Northampton School for Girls and attended Smith college. She has been a student at Iowa for the last two years.

Overheard by an Author.

Kenneth Horan was busily autographing her latest book, Night Bell, in a book store when she overheard a woman going past ask her companion:

"Who's that?"

"Kathleen Norris," answered the other.

"Did you buy her book?"

"No, my family would kill me if I came home with a book."

When Men-Were-Men Note.

The following recipe for Yale Boat pie, relayed by Pat Thomas, is from "Jennie June's Cookbook," published in 1878:

"Lay three or four pounds of steak from the under cut of a round of beef in a middle sized dish, having seasoned it with pepper and salt. Have a couple of chickens at hand, cut in pieces and season; place them upon the steak, and over them a dozen and a half of fresh, fat oysters, without the liquid. Add half a dozen fresh, hard boiled eggs and, after dampening the bottom of the dish with half a pint of strong ale, cover the whole with fresh mushrooms, adding to these half a pound of glaze or plain neat's-foot jelly. Lay over the dish a substantial paste and bake in a brick oven. This is excellent for a water excursion."

Add Collectors.

There are collectors and collectors. John Bottony, who operates a valet shop in the apartment building at 1400 Lake Shore drive, collects the match folders, ticket stubs, transfers, and similar oddenda he finds in the pockets of suits and coats sent him to be cleaned. A folding screen stands in his shop, with the objects taken from pockets pasted on it and lacquered over.

Good Morning!

Strange cargo, indeed! HOW strange you'll never guess [perhaps you won't—I did!] till the very end of the picture.

This is a pretentious offering that falls short of being very good because of palpably labored effort to make it that. It is too long and it is too involved. . . . It will make you think of "Rain," of "The Servant in the House," and of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," for in its tinfoil of entertainment lies a preachment. But in no way is it as admirable as any of the three named productions.

The film is based on a novel by Richard Sale, and the action starts in a penal colony off French Guiana. . . . From thence some desperate prisoners, and a man who is of them and yet—NOT of them—escape, taking with them a bad girl with a good heart who has got into a jam. Julie is the vixen's name, and she has intrigued the interest of Verne, leader of the escapers.

The story follows the group on their perilous trip thru jungle, desert, and over open water—on which they become becalmed—to the mainland. . . . Three men and the girl reach shore—and from here on I shall let the picture lead you.

Everybody concerned in the film's making turns in an honest performance and I am sure the author—and director—had the benefit of the world at heart. But you just can't let the people know you're TRYING to do 'em good if you're going to get away with it.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Home Town Boy Makes Good.

Akron, O., May 5.—Here it was that Clark Gable grew up, worked Saturdays in the haberdashery store of Gates and Kittle, worked later in a tire factory, got his first job as an actor with the Horne Stock company and then took off on the jaunt to Pocatello, Idaho, and Butte, Mont., that was to lead him to Hollywood, and eventually the rôle of Rhett Butler.

So quite a few people in this thriving city knew Gable when he was in his 'teens, played pool with him, accompanied him to the picture theaters and there is a fund of information available about the M-G-M star.

Every one agrees that Gable got his physique from his dad, his penchant for make-believe from his mother. He was born to Will and Adeline Gable at Cadiz, O., Feb. 1, 1901, and Dr. John S. Campbell listed on the birth report that the male infant weighed 12 pounds. The mother, the former Adeline Hershelman, was of Pennsylvania Dutch and Irish extraction and her neighbors say that she was a dreamy, artistic, sensitive woman, with a fine talent for painting. She died when her son was 11 months old, and young Gable was brought up by Aunt Mary Ella in a one story house on Church street, at Hopedale, outside of Cadiz.

Years later when Gable scored in "A Free Soul," and the picture was shown at the Hopedale theater, Aunt Mary Ella, Uncle John, and Uncle Edison attended in their best Sunday go to meeting clothes. It was one of the first pictures they ever had seen, and when Gable made his first appearance, the three of them murmured audibly.

But they kept shushing each other and then, all of a sudden, Gable was shot. Aunt Mary Ella could stand it no longer: "Ch-h, they've killed my boy," she screamed, tears streaming down her furrowed face, her work calloused hands gripped hard.

Aside from a few disgruntled locals who tell you truculently that Gable didn't answer a letter they sent, the big fellow's local reputation and his reputation in Cadiz and Hopedale is amazingly fine. Miners recall that he used to swim with their kids in the shovel dams at the mouths of the mines, and that he was bigger than most of the kids of his age.

It was his size that accounted for his presence in the Hopedale village band when he was 8 years old. Aunt Mary Ella had dug up money so that he could take music lessons, and the pictures of young Gable, in band uniform, tootling an E-flat alto horn are something for Carole Lombard's collection. The uniform was made for an adult horn-tootler—and it sort of surrounds Gable in creases and welts of cloth.

From the standpoint of a movie historian all of the pictures offer telltale evidence. In every group photo the other kids are wearing caps or soft hats. Not Clark; moored on his ears is a derby hat! It seems to me that the kid's selection of a derby was the best tipoff as to his originality and his search for something with which to distinguish himself.

And what a derby! This, from the pictures, was an iron hat to end all iron hats. It turned up a bit in front like the tip of a Turkish shoe, and it appeared to be swooping down in back, as if the rear rim was trying to take a snap at the top of the Gable spinal cord. You can hazard a lot of guesses about Clark Gable, but the best guess is that a 16 year old who elected to wear a derby was destined for early extinction or early fame.

This entire area is proud of Clark Gable. You can tell it best in the inquiries of the autograph fans: "Is Clark Gable nice?" they ask you, and when you tell them that he is really a swell guy, modest and unassuming, they look at each other and grin as if to say: "See."

Only one note of discord ever has been sounded locally. The serious pastor of the Hopedale Methodist church, in which Gable's dad once was Sunday school superintendent, about four years ago made page 1 by calling on Gable, from the pulpit, to "return to the ways of God." The pastor evidently believed, like Aunt Mary Ella, that the most famous member of his flock actually was the heartbreaker he'd seen on the screen.

Sophistication Works Magic in Seersucker

BY REA SEEGER.

Ingenious designers have taken simple seersucker this spring and, with imagination and skill, used this lowly cotton so that it makes sophisticated street suits the equal of the finest tailored woolens. Clever two piece outfits of dress and companion jacket feature the same sleek distinction as the more tailored duets of gored skirt and suit jacket. What marks all the clothes made of seersucker is the young appeal, outlines that emphasize young streamlines, chief purpose of daytime and street outfits for summer.

Expensively priced seersucker creations use the same fresh, striped brown and white, gray and white, and red and white crinkled cotton that goes into the modestly marked finds for the limited budgeteer or the career girl faced with a summer of office hours no matter what the temperature. Some of these neat tailored two piece seersucker suits are available for around $8. They are exceptional finds for the money.

Jackets are cut to hug the rib lines, there are four tailored bias cut pockets patched on hip and chest, a row of huge white pearl buttons and the V neckline is high enough so that an under blouse is not necessary. It can be worn as a dress suit outfit with ease and high fashion. Colors are black and white, bright red and white, and brown and white stripe. Altho the jacket sleeves are long and fitted they can easily be cut off just above the elbows for additional coolness.

Since the price mark is so modest, even a frugal shopper will own at least two, and three will pull you thru a sultry summer, always cool, comfortable, spotless and fresh, for this obliging puffed or blistered cotton washes like any piece of cotton lingerie.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Millicent Dunham's mother dreams of marrying her off to some one like Dick Shard, who is kind, distinguished, and rich. Dick lives in New York, but Mr. Dunham worked for the Shard firm in Kansas before his death and Dick, who had stayed at their home while visiting his branch office, gave Mrs. Dunham a job after her husband died. On a business trip to New York, Dick invites Mrs. Dunham to a theater party with his friends, Constance and Aleck Stewart. Aleck is an invalid, and Mrs. Dunham realizes that Dick is in love with Constance. After the theater, Mrs. Dunham is hit by a car while saving Dick's life and, while she is dying, she makes Dick promise to marry Millicent. Tho still in love with Constance, Dick keeps his promise. Altho Millicent doesn't love Dick, she thinks he loves her, and Dr. Ogden, a family friend, advises her to marry Dick, for they know it was her mother's wish and she has been left penniless and untrained. After the wedding Dick tells Millicent why he married her and that she will be free to do as she pleases, but that until she decides what she wants to do, she can live with him in his New York apartment. She is humiliated but agrees to stay with him for six months and then get a divorce. Dick tells Constance how badly dressed his wife is and she agrees to get a personal maid for Millicent who will choose the right clothes for her.

MILLICENT MAKES A FRIEND.

INSTALMENT XIII.

Dick laughed at Constance's eager questions.

"Millicent took everything I said to her with the utmost amiability—I might say relief. Your flattering notion that she was going to become attached to me, turns out to be the bunk. I never saw a woman leap so joyfully at the suggestion of a divorce."

"Didn't she find it rather hard to explain why she had married you at all?"

"She didn't have to explain that—it was clear—she hasn't a penny in the world and no friends that can do her much good."

"She sounds like a pretty cold-blooded minx to me."

"No, I can't let you say that, Constance—she's a pathetic little creature . . ."

"No, Dick, you can't make me pity her. Her mother, yes. We hadn't much in common, but I could see her mother was a real person, and certainly died a heroic death. But this girl—to my mind she has done very well herself, and I don't like her. If she had been pretty I might have found it necessary to hate her."

"I guarantee she doesn't find the idea of me hard to hate."

"She doesn't know anything about you."

Constance turned on him. "You mean you didn't tell her about me?"

He shook his head. "It wasn't necessary. I started to tell her, and then I saw she really wasn't interested, and so of course didn't tell her."

To him it seemed wonderfully fortunate that he hadn't—he didn't want to take a strange girl into his confidence as to his feeling for Constance—he had never spoken to any one on the subject. He wasn't sure however that Constance was pleased.

"She'll have to know about me some time—she'll hear of it from some one?" she said.

"I rather doubt it. People don't tell that sort of thing to a man's wife."

"If she has average intelligence she may find it out for herself."

"She's not at all unintelligent, but so inexperienced, so . . ."

"Do I see the word innocent hanging on your lips?"

"It wouldn't be a bad adjective for her, but I was going to say so uninterested in that sort of thing—and in me. She won't find it out: And if she does, what difference does it make? I've laid down such rules for my complete independence that nothing else matters."

Constance still looked doubtful. "Don't you think, if she's been a local belle, she may expect to take you in her stride, and even if she doesn't care about you she may be annoyed to find there's another woman."

"I rather doubt that local belle stuff—I saw no trace of it. Every girl is a local belle to her mother, I suspect."

This seemed to satisfy his companion, and she began to question him about the details of his wedding, and laughed heartily at the idea of the rice in his pocket.

He lingered much longer than he had intended—so long that he was late for all his afternoon appointments and couldn't get away from the office until seven, altho he had left word with Simmons, his butler, to tell Mrs. Shard that he would be at home by five. The result was he felt guilty, and it annoyed him to feel guilty—he who had always been as free as air—it annoyed him to think of returning to his own apartment where he had reigned in selfish solitude to find a pale, sad little presence reproaching him, if not in her words at least in here general dreariness. He hadn't, he said to himself, undertaken to amuse her—he owed no such obligation. If he chose to dine at the club—he had a good mind to dine at the club . . . one might as well begin by being perfectly honest. . . . In fact, as so often happens, the aftermath of doing his duty heroically was an impulse to behave badly.

He let himself in with a latchkey, but Simmons, who had never quite accustomed himself to this American custom, was hovering to take his hat and coat.

"Is Mrs. Shard dressing?"

"No, sir, Mrs. Shard is in the drawing room."

Of course she was waiting for him—waiting to remind him that she didn't have a friend in New York and he had left her the whole day, waiting probably in tears. He moved toward the door of his sitting room, and as he did a laugh of the purest delight broke on his ears. He was so startled that he looked at Simmons for an explanation:

"There's a gentleman with Mrs. Shard, sir," he said, and he added quite impersonally: "He came in with Mrs. Shard about five . . ."

It was now after seven.

Shard went into the room—a masculine room, half library, half sitting room. Millicent and a young man were sitting by the fire laughing. As Shard came in they stopped laughing and composed their faces as a classroom composes itself when the professor enters—not so much from fear as from a knowledge of decorum.

"Oh, Dick," Millicent said, "this is Mortimer Curley."

"I hope you gave Mr. Curley tea," said Shard, shaking the young man's hand. He was a nice looking boy, shy, shabby and, Shard thought, very intelligent.

"Oh, we had tea before we came in," Millicent answered. "At the dearest little place that Mr. Curley knew about. . . . He comes from Kansas."

"Well, to be accurate, I come from Missouri," Curley said, and the happy state of their minds could be guessed from the fact that they both laughed heartily at this.

Shard offered him a drink, but he said that he must go—that they ate at seven in his fraternity house and he was going to be late.

When he was gone Shard said pleasantly: "I'm glad you found a friend the very first day—that was great luck."

"Don't you like him?" said Millicent. Shard noticed that in spite of her unbecoming dress—the same she had worn the first time he saw her, she was looking very different—really pretty, for her color had come back and her eyes were not red—on the contrary they looked a shining dark blue in the lamplight. "He's an archaeologist—he's going to Egypt as soon as he graduates—he was so interesting. We met looking at a mummy in the Metropolitan museum."

"Oh, you went to the museum."

"Yes, mother had talked about it to me and Simmons suggested it, and so after lunch I went there in the car. . . . What a nice man Briggs is—he talked to me about mother. . . . I didn't know you'd been so kind and let her have the car while she was here. . . . Well, Briggs took me to the museum and I didn't know just where to begin, and so I wandered into the Egyptian rooms. Oh, Dick, I think I'll go to Egypt the first chance I have. It's all so wonderful . . . and I was looking at a mummy, and so was Mr. Curley . . . and suddenly he said to me: "You know she was once just as young as you are . . ."

"To be honest Millicent, didn't he say, just as young and pretty?"

GASOLINE ALLEY—A REPEATER

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Pessimists

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The other day the following hand occurred. I was sitting South:

"South, dealer.

WEST
♠ 6 5 3

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Double	Pass	Pass
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

"Opening lead, jack of hearts.

"My bidding was not very sound, but I took into consideration the fact that my partner is a very conservative bidder. I hold no brief for the redouble.

"I took the first trick, led the jack of clubs, West covered, and that suit was established. I then made a stab at the spade finesse and it held, to my great glee. At this point I could lay down five more tricks and be down one, but the problem was to get the ninth. I played the spade ace on the vague theory that I did not want to be thrown on lead later on. I then went over to the high club in dummy and played a diamond which I covered in my hand with the ten. West took and led his last spade. East cashed his king-jack, returned a heart, and I didn't take another trick. Down 1,400!

"Against double dummy defense, I don't see how this hand can be made. If South leads out all his clubs after the spade finesse, West can beat the hand by not discarding a spade. If he discards one spade, three no trump is in, and I think that the proper method of play is for declarer to take four club tricks, then take the spade finesse and then the fifth club trick, in which case the chances are that West would discard a spade. I would appreciate your comments.

"R. W. J., New York."

My correspondent's comment about his own bidding "not being very sound" is quite an understatement, but let's let it pass. The play is so interesting that we have bigger fish to fry.

With the clubs breaking and the spade king on side, the contract could have been fulfilled by exceptionally keen card placing. Admittedly, it would not have been easy, but the following line would have been proof against any defense: Declarer wins the opening lead with the heart king, and returns the club jack. West covers and dummy's king wins. A low diamond is now led and South just covers East's card. Presumably East plays low and the ten spot forces West's queen. West cannot return a heart or a diamond without giving South the ninth trick, hence can make no better lead than a club. Dummy wins and now the spade finesse is negotiated. Declarer does not lay down the spade ace . . . yet! He cashes two more clubs, leaving this situation:

WEST
♥ A 10
♦ A 7
♣ None

♠ K J
♦ J 9 6

SOUTH
♥ K 6
♣ 10

The holding given West at this point is the best available to him. Now declarer cashes his last club and West is in extremely hot water. If he lets go his low diamond declarer plays the diamond three, establishing the diamond king while retaining control of spades and hearts. If West discards the heart ten the lead of the heart six effects the same kind of result. Hence, West's best discard is a spade. But when this is done declarer cashes the spade ace [thereby extracting West's exit card] and then throws West on lead with either heart [the king is the proper play]. West can cash his two heart tricks, but now must give declarer a diamond trick.

It will be observed that the crux of the play is for declarer to pass a diamond into West before taking the spade finesse, and later to retain his spade ace until the right moment.

Teen-Age Youngster Wise to Stick with Her Contemporaries

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Lillian, 13 years old, reports that a problem has arisen in her association with a group of girls and boys of her own age. Some of the girls, she says, want her to break away with them on the ground that the boys "act like kids." Lillian asks for advice.

By all means, Lillian, stay with the group in which you find such congenial relationships. Stay with the crowd your mother and dad know and approve. It's a valuable asset to you, Lillian, to have companionships that meet with parental approval. Furthermore, at your age, keeping your boy friendships just on that basis means more fun for you than getting involved with an older group whose heads are filled with adult notions.

But our feeling is that the older boys don't want to be bothered with younger girls. So, those girls will end up finding themselves out on a limb with no boys in their lives.

Stock's Works Form Program at Arts Club

A program of compositions by Frederick A. Stock, presented at the Arts club, Sunday evening, May 5, 1940, with the following participants: Claire Dux, soprano; the Philharmonic String quartet; a chamber orchestra conducted by Dr. Stock; Carl Alwin, pianist.

The program included:

String Quartet, C Minor, Opus 6.

Songs: "An ein Johannisswürmchen; "Reb' auf dein blondes Haupt" [first performance]; "Einen Strauss that le winden"; "Einen Brief."

"Prelude and Scherzo Infinito," for chamber orchestra [first performance].

BY CECIL SMITH.

When Frederick August Stock lays down his baton at the end of next Saturday's concert in the Cornell college festival at Mount Vernon, Ia., he will end his 35th season as conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. In celebration of this remarkable term of distinguished service, so much longer than that of any other important American conductor, the Arts club last evening devoted an entire program to chamber compositions and songs by Dr. Stock.

The program provided an opportunity to hear Dr. Stock's creative gifts in more intimate vein than is disclosed in the orchestral works he so seldom—out of modesty—plays in Orchestra hall. Some chronological sweep was obtained, for the string quartet, opus 6, dates from 1907, while "A Rhapsodic Sketch," dedicated to Claire Dux, is less than a month old.

A high point of the evening came with Mme. Dux's performance of the five songs on the program, two of them wholly new. Dr. Stock's feeling for a variety of texts is flexible and sensitive, and he achieves many attractive effects of modulation and of vocal color. If his style resembles that of any other composer, it resembles Richard Strauss, but he has his own positive and individual way of carrying a musical idea to its fruition. Some of the songs, and indeed some passages of the quartet, reveal a delightful touch of whimsicality. Mme. Dux, thrice welcome on the concert platform after too long a voluntary absence, sang with her unmatched taste and discrimination, and with a bold and effective use of her full voice.

Concert in Rockefeller Memorial chapel, Sunday afternoon, May 5, 1940, by the University of Chicago choir, Mark Evans, director; the University of Chicago Symphony orchestra; the Choirs of Fourth Presbyterian church, Barrett Spach, director; Maurine Parzybok, contralto; Paul Nettinga, tenor; Anna Burmeister, soprano; Lee Ross, cantor; Frederick Marriott, organist.

The program included:

Chorus from "Unto Us a Child Is Born" ..... Bach
Chorale from "Sleepers, Wake!" ..... Bach
Magnificat ..... Vaughan Williams
[First performance in Chicago]
O Sill et Silise ..... Leisring
If ye love me, keep my commandments ..... Tallis
God is with Us ..... Kastalsky
Psalm 86 ..... Holst
Psalm 24 ..... Boulanger

The University of Chicago's festival program revealed to Chicago the extraordinary beauties of Vaughan Williams' "Magnificat," a recent work written for women's chorus, contralto solo and orchestra. Whatever precious and stylized qualities may have existed in the earlier idiom of Vaughan Williams, they are no longer present in the "Magnificat." Seeking to recapture the emotional fervor and the oriental quality of the original poem, the composer has departed from the usual formalized liturgical setting of the words. Orchestra, solo voice, and women's chorus are blended into a high coloristic, yet exquisitely effective, musical totality Miss Parzybok's singing was deeply musical, vocally broad, and tonally warm. Mack Evans conducted with a sensitive awareness of expressive values.

The combined choirs sang with unusual purity, yet with force and variety, thruout the program. Barrett Spach directed a well integrated, climactic performance of Holst's dramatic psalm, and Paul Nettinga sang his solo with good command. Both conductors showed at all times a healthy disinclination to interest themselves in external showmanship at the expense of musical line.

A benefit concert for the Self-Help of Emigres from Central Europe society in the Auditorium recital hall last night enlisted the services of Maria Hussa, soprano; Leo Podolsky, pianist; Leopold Foederl, violinist; Freda Trepel, pianist; Carl Alwin, accompanist, and Hans H. Rosenwald, commentator.

May 6, 1940.

Six as the date of birth gives an interest in educational work. Teaching, nursing, governmental, and institutional work, and all fields with a direct contact with the establishment and running of a home are excellent ones for those born on the 6th of any month. Those born on May 6 are in a seven year. It can be difficult if not handled correctly, but it also can be the time for great inner growth thru learning life's lessons. Those over 26 are now in the six larger cycles of their lives and will find that there is a great emphasis on home and family relationships as well as responsibilities to assume.

MISS FRANCES HAYES.

The engagement of Miss Frances Hayes to George Felsenthal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Felsenthal of 5000 Woodlawn avenue, was announced at a dinner party Saturday night by her parents, Judge and Mrs. Frank H. Hayes of Morris, Ill. Miss Hayes studied at Rosary college in River Forest and its branch in Switzerland. She was graduated from Northwestern university.

Mr. Felsenthal is a grandson of Eli Felsenthal, who was one of Chicago's early prominent lawyers, and of the late Nathan Hartman, founder of the Hartman Furniture Stores. He attended the University of Chicago. The wedding will take place early in August.

ENGAGEMENTS

At a tea Saturday afternoon Mrs. Sol J. Landau of 5115 Ellis avenue announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ruth Gumbin, to Edgar N. Greenebaum Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Greenebaum of 2440 Lake View avenue. Miss Gumbin was graduated last June from Vassar college. Her fiancé attended Wabash college and the University of Chicago. The wedding is planned for June 23.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Casgrain of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol, to J. Harvey Martin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Clearwater, Fla. The wedding will take place this summer. Miss Casgrain is a graduate of De Pauw university and her fiancé of Mars Hill [N. C.] college.

Housework Clinics to Be Held at Home Show Today

Clinics in interior decoration, cooking, and short cuts in routine housework will be featured today at the Chicago Home show in the Coliseum, according to John A. Servas, managing director of the National House and Garden exposition, which is sponsoring the show. About 20,000 persons have attended since it opened Saturday noon. A handicraft exhibit sponsored by the Chicago Park district shows ornaments which hobbyists can make for their homes.

Moscona Debut Chief Event of Greek Festival

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Greek-Americans — more particularly the members and friends of the Hellenic Orthodox Church of St. Nicholas—gathered in the Civic Opera house last night to honor three Greeks who have distinguished themselves in music and the dance. The occasion was the Hellenic Byzantine spring festival, sponsored by the St. Nicholas church.

The major event of the evening was the Chicago debut of Nicholas Moscona, Metropolitan opera bass. In excerpts from standard operas and in miscellaneous western and Greek songs, Mr. Moscona sang in such a way as to leave no doubt either as to the quality of his voice or the excellence of his musicianship.

If there were such a thing as a lyric bass, he would be it. Basically, his voice is soft and rich. He has a smooth legato of the type rarely heard in the lower octaves, and he colors with taste and sureness. This is not to imply that Mr. Moscona is at a loss when something especially big and virile and basslike comes along. Altho he never sings with huge volume, he manages to achieve an effect of huge volume by the niceness of his contrasts with what has gone before and what is to follow.

The two other Greeks honored last night were Vassos Kanellos and his daughter Xenea. They were seen in various dances based on ancient and medieval Greek and Byzantine motifs. They were applauded cordially, altho a person ignorant of the tradition found it impossible to understand their combination of highly stylized and definitely exotic motion and posture, on the one hand, with conventionalized music of a modern, west of Europe harmonic character, on the other.

The stage of Orchestra hall was bright yesterday with 600 child faces. Their owners were members of the various Civic Music association choruses which had been rehearsing in field houses and settlements and orphanages around the city ever since last fall and which had come together on this first Sunday of May for the annual Civic Music festival.

Under Marx E. Oberndorfer's direction and to accompaniment of the Civic orchestra, these children sang like 600 angels—like 600 young, carefree and slightly nasal angels. To folk songs such as Rumania's "The Peasant Girl" and Wales' "Hunting the Hare" they brought a gayety and a humor which no adult music makers could ever match.

Tone was fresh and unforced. With such a large number of singers, no one person had to scream. The result was an easy, even textured mass of sound.

So well had these children's teachers done their work that Mr. Oberndorfer was able to put a great deal of flexibility into yesterday's performance without marring the chorus' precision. There were apt little lingerings over particularly succulent phrases, sudden rhythmic fillips calculated to give old tunes new point and meaning.

Under Clarence Evans' direction the orchestra played various light pieces before and between the vocal groups.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' LINGERIE.

Frills and furbelows are adorning today's smart lingerie as they did in Victorian days. Something underthings must have these days to be chic is femininity, and these two patterns make it possible for you to have frilly slips, panties, all-in-ones, petticoats, and bras. The patterns are easy to use and require a minimum amount of lingerie material, be it cotton or silk. Lace and ribbon beading are called into service to decorate these beautiful style undergarments.

Give Part of the Noon Hour to Relaxation

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We heard a speaker refer to business girls and women as "that class that accepts the noon hour as one part food, one part worry, and the remainder as a game of rushing from one counter to another."

We women do misuse that luncheon hour. We alibi that it is the only time we have for shopping, but isn't it the truth that it is the only time because we make it so? And that those of us who make it so aren't as well dressed as the business women who compress their shopping hours into an afternoon a month, say, or even less? The latter have a buying system, a well thought out plan.

There may be one a week which may be legitimately claimed as a rushed noon hour. That's when the weekly hairdo and manicure have to be performed.

We women still haven't learned to park the business worries atop the desk until return from luncheon, so they're lived and talked over at the noonday table, and food eaten to the tune of work and worry isn't doing the good it should.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

A set of bath preparations that never fails to add a tinge of luxury to everyday life now offers another inducement. Carnation has been added to the list of fragrances.

Included in the set is a bath mitt that is a charmer. It's made of green terry cloth, slips over the hand and is filled with a mixture of castile soap, herbs, and perfume. It can also be purchased separately or in sets of three or six.

There's a friction lotion to be used after the bath that is stimulating and soothing. It's a blend of oil and alcohol, is not drying to the skin, and leaves it faintly perfumed.

Then there are four bottles of bath oil in assorted fragrances, that soften and scent the water in a heavenly way. The oils are perfumed with carnation, white lilac, rose, and with a blend that is quite unusual.

FLORENCE MURDOCH.

Vegetables and Meat Combine to Advantage

BY MARY MEADE.
[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

There is much to be said in favor of combinations of meat and vegetables, cooked together and served together. In the first place, they save time for the cook. In the second, they allow more bare space on the tablecloth, a decided advantage from the standpoint of appearance.

Casserole of Lamb Hash.

[Serves Six.]

3 cups cooked diced lamb
1 medium onion, grated or chopped fine
3 cups diced cooked potatoes
½ cup sliced celery
1 teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon chili powder
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
Salt, pepper

Combine ingredients and fill a greased casserole. Bake for half an hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees.

Meat Balls with Tomato Sauce.

[Serves Six.]

1½ pounds ground beef
½ cup rice, uncooked
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 can tomato soup
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Mix ground beef, rice, and seasonings. Shape into small balls and drop into tomato soup to which water, onion, and green pepper have been added. Simmer until meat and rice are cooked, about an hour. Serve meat balls on a platter with the sauce poured over them.

Pork Chop Grill.

[Serves Four.]

4 thick pork chops
2 fresh tomatoes
1 small head cauliflower, cooked
Salt, pepper
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup finely chopped onions
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¾ cup hot water
½ teaspoon sugar

Brown chops on both sides. Cover and let cook gently until tender, about half an hour. Meanwhile, cook cauliflower, separated into flowerets, in boiling, salted water, and cut tomatoes in halves. Season pork with salt and pepper, and place on hot platter. Place tomato halves and buttered cauliflower around the edge of the platter. Sprinkle tomatoes with salt and top with small pieces of butter. If desired, sprinkle with grated cheese. Place platter under broiler to cook tomatoes and brown cauliflower. Make a sauce from drippings in the skillet left from cooking the meat. Add onion, let it brown lightly, then add flour. Add vinegar, mustard, hot water, and sugar. Cook and stir until thickened and smooth. Serve with meat and vegetables.

Lamb Riblet Platter.

[Serves Six.]

3 pounds lamb riblets
3 tablespoons lard
6 small onions
6 small new potatoes
6 medium carrots
2 pounds green beans or 1 can green beans
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
Salt, pepper

Brown lamb riblets in hot lard and season with salt and pepper. Cover with water [not very much] and cook slowly for half an hour. Add vegetables and continue cooking until they are tender, 45 minutes or so. Add vinegar and sugar during last 15 minutes of cooking. To serve, place riblets in the center of a large platter and arrange vegetables around them. Thicken the drippings with flour mixed to a paste with cold water and serve gravy separately.

Glen Mitchell Show Exhibits Fine Paintings

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Glen Mitchell has a stunning group of paintings at the Hoosier Art gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, during May. This is the first large showing of Mr. Mitchell's work in Chicago in some time. Altho he studied at the Chicago Art institute [and later in Paris] and lived here several years, he has been gone for the better part of fifteen years. At present he is director of painting at the Minneapolis School of Art.

These facts really have nothing to do with the merits of the show. They are rather a background for the painter. So good is Glen Mitchell's work, however, that it needs neither background nor supporting facts. Here is definitely fine painting, solid, honest, good modern and still sane.

If Mr. Mitchell goes haywire at all it is in his water colors, where his passion for a certain red puts one's teeth on edge and where he apparently considers emotion rather than solidity to be the thing.

But this criticism must not be considered absolute. For instance, "El Cabrigo" [definitely not an oil] is an unusually beautiful arrangement of pattern and color featuring a tree. Among the oils are several stunning still lifes, "Onions," "Lemons," "Cucumbers," "Bananas and Apples," that, if they were hung under the name of a French painter would command fabulous prices—and be worth them. They are equally worth it now, but Mr. Mitchell has priced them ridiculously low. Here is a chance for a lover of American art to start his collection. There is no doubt about the quality of the painter's genius—these things are GOOD.

Charles Reiffel shares a little in the wall space of the gallery, but his part in the exhibition is very small, both because of the small number of his pictures and their debatable quality. Of them "The Trout Stream" is by far the most pretentious and the best. It is rather like a tapestry, a decorative landscape.

Jessie Arms Botke and Cornelius Botke are in town for the opening of an exhibition of paintings by Mrs. Botke today at the Chicago Galleries association, 215 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Botke has been living in California, and this is her first one man show here in years. She and Mr. Botke hope to welcome many friends at the reception Monday afternoon at the galleries.

Squares for Crocheted Afghan

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a combination of squares for a crocheted afghan which is hard to beat. It is a variation of the log cabin design and plain blocks worked in slipper stitch. Variety is afforded in making an afghan of this type because, when one tires of making the multicolored squares, the plain ones may be substituted. Knitting worsted is an ideal wool for this coverlet.

For instructions in crocheting the afghan, No. X-301, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

card parties none is a gayer affair than the one the Woman's auxiliary of Grant hospital gives each year. Mrs. Frederick L. McNally and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens are co-chairmen of this season's party, to be held today at the nurses' home, 536 Webster avenue. Some of those who have taken tables are Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Frederick Gillespie, the senior and the junior Mrs. Albert F. Madlener, Mrs. Walter Lefens, and Mrs. Frank S. Porter, who is president of the auxiliary.

The money the nursing committee of the woman's board of the Presbyterian hospital expects to raise at a card party this afternoon will go toward paying the tuition of student nurses who otherwise would be unable to complete their courses. The party will be given at the nurses' home. Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, Mrs. George Harvey, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Frank B. Theis, Mrs. Clayton J. Lundy, and Mrs. Frederick Childs are some of those on the committee.

The American Friends of China will hold a tea and preview of an exhibition of paintings by Prof. Chang Shan-tze from 4 to 6 o'clock today at the Chinese temple, 2216 Wentworth avenue. Prof. Chang, famous for his paintings of tigers, will demonstrate the technique of Chinese paintings.

Among those on the committee for the exhibition are Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr., Mrs. William H. Bush, Mrs. Henry Babson, Miss Frances Whedon, and Mrs. Harley McNair.

In addition to meeting Mr. and Mrs. Carveth Wells this afternoon some of Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever's friends will have the opportunity of examining leisurely the works of Boris Lovet-Lorski. Mrs. McKeever is entertaining for Mr. and Mrs. Wells at the Tretyakov galleries, where the Russian sculptor's works are on view.

The provisional members of the Evanston Junior league will meet at 1:30 o'clock today at the home of one of them, Mrs. David Hicks, in Glencoe. After a business meeting tea will be served.

The Musicians Club of Women will hold a luncheon meeting today in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt, president, will introduce the guests and new officers.

PHILLIES WHIP CUBS, 7-5; SOX BEAT A'S, 6-5

Chicago Scores Four in Ninth Inning.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Phillies, who usually are humble fellows against other opposition, but rip snorters in a skirmish with the Cubs, pulled their old tricks on the latter yesterday. They took Bill Lee apart, gave a rousing reception to Vern Olsen, who was picked to do some rescuing, and carried off the series opener before 14,676 Wrigley field patrons.

The score was 7 to 5, but it was close only because the Cubs, after eight innings of futile bat wielding, finally accomplished a four run splurge in the ninth.

Lee, now whipped three times this season, gave up, by request, in the eighth inning when there were two Phils on the bases, one out and the Cubs in arrears, 2 to 1. Lee was retired because Manager Gabby Hartnett figured it would be a good idea for a southpaw to pitch to old Chuck Klein, who never did care about that sort of throwing. So Lefty Olsen came in and Klein doubled to score the first pair of five runs yielded by Lefty in less than two innings.

Pinch Hitters Deliver.

The Cubs knocked out Hugh Mulcahy, but not until after his victory was fairly secure and he had made them perform like trained seals for eight innings. During those eight sessions, Mulcahy was touched for only seven hits, but that's only a portion of the Cubs' feebleness. Mulcahy aggravated the Cubs, not to mention the customers, by refusing to yield under pressure. Twice there were Cubs on second with none out and they didn't score. Neither was there a run after a single had opened another inning. Once, in the fifth, two singles opened the inning, but only one scored.

Altho Manager Hartnett didn't have much luck with Olsen as a rescuer, he did get results from pinch hitters in the ninth. The first of the producing pinchmen was squatty Dominic Dallessandro, who swung for Olsen and ripped loose a double which ended Mulcahy's spell. Then Glen Russell doubled off Rescuer Lloyd Brown, but the ex-American league southpaw soon closed the show by fanning Augie Galan.

Waste Begins Early.

A hit by any one of three men in the first inning would have presented the Cubs with a run, but it was not forthcoming. However, the team's total of men left on bases was nourished a bit. Stan Hack opened the Cub attack with a double to the wall in left center, but thereafter Billy Herman tapped to Heinie Mueller, Galan grounded to Schulte, and Hank Leiber grounded to Mueller.

Hack tried to coax his pals into action again in the third, with the same result. He singled with one out. Herman figured the Phils might be innocents abroad, so he bunted but was thrown out easily, Hack going from first to third. Galan closed the inning with a pop to Schulte. The fourth was another flop. Leiber led off with a single, but the next two boys grounded to Mahan, one of them for a double play.

The Phils didn't give Lee much concern until the fourth, when Herman's fielding skill, instead of helping, created a tough spot. Herman skidded behind second to make a robbery stop of Martin's single, but in his haste to get the ball to first base he threw wild. Martin went

CHUBBY DEAN YIELDS WINNING RUNS IN EIGHTH

Wright Scores from First on Single.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5.—Chubby Dean conquered the New York Yankees twice in the first week of this season, but he wasn't good enough to trim our awakened White Sox today. In the most interesting game they have played this year the Sox won the opener of a three game series with the Athletics, 6 to 5.

Eric McNair.

There were several stirring incidents which contributed to the Chicagoans' success, but most unusual of these was Taft Wright's scoring from first with the tying run on Luke Appling's single over second with two out in the eighth inning.

This surprise maneuver so upset the Athletics that the Sox quickly added the winning run, then devoted their time to worrying about the relief pitching of Vallie Eaves and Pete Appleton, the eventual winner. Ted Lyons was the starter.

McNair Has a Busy Day.

Eric McNair knocked a double, a homer, and a single his first three times at bat, and the first two of these drives were essential to victory. Eric's double batted home the run which put the Sox ahead, 2 to 1, in the second. In the fourth a homer by Frankie Hayes with one on put the A's ahead, 3 to 2, and Eric's homer in the fifth effected a tie. The single was wasted, tho it put Appling on third with the potential tying run with one out in the seventh.

Eaves was the pitcher of record when the Sox went ahead in the eighth, but his work at the start of the home eighth was so inept that the official scorer credited the victory to Appleton, who did a fine job of relieving despite wildness.

White Sox Get 11 Hits.

The Sox, in acquiring their second straight victory, their fifth of the season, made 11 hits. Most potent were Wright and Appling, each with a double and a single; Julius Solters with two singles, and, of course, McNair.

Successive singles by Wally Moses, Benny McCoy, and Bob Johnson after one was out in the first inning enabled the A's to get off to a 1 to 0 lead, but the Sox went ahead in the second. Wright opened the productive session by dropping a double in front of Johnson. Wright went to third while McCoy was throwing out Appling, and scored on Solters' single off McCoy's glove. McNair doubled to left, scoring Solters, but Eric was out trying to reach third on a throw to the plate. Then Mike Tresh struck out.

The A's grabbed the lead in their end of the fourth. Dick Siebert singled thru Appling, then Hayes drove

Dodgers Beat Cards; 39 Play, Break Record

St. Louis, Mo., May 5 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals set a new major league record for the most players used in one game with a total of 39 today—22 for the Dodgers and 17 for the Cards. The old record was 37, established by the Cardinals and Philadelphia in 1928 and tied by the Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs in 1937.

Perhaps because they rushed more reinforcements, Brooklyn defeated the Cardinals, 9 to 6, with a four run rally in the ninth inning. It was the Dodgers' tenth victory of the season against only one loss.

There was a comedy of strategical shifts in the eighth inning. With two men on base, Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers sent Jim Ripple, a left-hander, to bat against Jack Russell, a right-handed pitcher. Ray Blades of the Cards replaced Russell with Lefty Clyde Shoun. Durocher countered by removing Ripple in favor of Johnny Hudson, a right-handed batter. Hudson singled, and Blades then yanked Shoun for Bob Bowman.

Johnny Mize and Don Padgett hit home runs and Stu Martin a triple for St. Louis, but four errors hurt the Cardinals, two of them coming in the fifth inning, when the Dodgers chased over four runs.

Doubles by Roy Cullenbine and Ernie Koy were the telling blows in the Dodgers' ninth inning rally, each hit driving in two runs. The Cardinals might have been able to hold the Dodgers scoreless in the inning if Stuart Martin had not thrown wild on a double-play ball. Score:

Baltimore and Sparta Tie in Soccer Opener

Baltimore, Md., May 5 (AP).—The Baltimore Soccer club and Sparta Falstaffs of Chicago played 90 minutes to a scoreless tie today, sending the teams to Chicago next Sunday to settle the national soccer championship. The two game series is decided on total goals.

A crowd of 3,000 saw the Sparta defense keep Charley Ernst, Baltimore's high scoring center forward, in check all day. Menka and Scott gave Ernst little chance to move when the ball was within striking distance.

Sparta Stresses Defense.

Chicago kept its defense intact at all cost. Half Back Pierson, on the left side of the midfield line, was constantly on the alert to drop back and become a third full back whenever Baltimore appeared dangerous. When this was considered insufficient, Right Half Back Rezek joined the cordon.

In spite of this defensive strategy, Baltimore managed to get 27 shots. Sparta had 19. Many were hurried, however, and none was point blank by an open man.

Sparta kicked off, but Baltimore immediately gained control of the ball and roared to the attack. Ernst had two shots in quick succession, but both were blocked easily.

Sparta Misses Chance.

Sparta had its big chance a few moments later when Babe Lubertine, Baltimore center half back, handled the ball just outside the penalty area. Pearson tried the kick, but it was turned aside.

Baltimore kept the pressure on in the entire first half, but the visitors dominated play in the second half.

Baltimore had two chances to score in the period, once when Ernst, fouled just outside the penalty area, took the free kick himself. It did not reach the goalie, being stopped by a half back. Late in the game Bill Schwanke and Ernst took turns at trying to drive the ball home from in front of the Sparta goal, but Silovsky stopped their five shots, tipping the last over the bar for a corner kick.

GALLAHADION TO SEEK PREAKNESS PURSE SATURDAY

Derby Winner Survives Upset in Fine Shape.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Gallahadion, conqueror of Bimelech in the Kentucky Derby, will start for Pimlico tomorrow in quest of further success. This handsome bay colt, which is owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago, will race next Saturday in the Preakness stakes.

Trainer Roy Waldron, who has built up the Milky Way horses to splendid condition during the year and a half since he took charge of the stable, said today Gallahadion had come out of the Derby without any ill effects. The horse cooled out well after the race and was as fit as ever this morning.

Waldron was jubilant today. His only regret was that illness had prevented Mrs. Mars from being present to see Gallahadion make that great drive thru the stretch.

He'll Race Here.

"We're planning to bring Gallahadion up to Chicago to race during the Arlington Park meeting," he said. "He's eligible for the Classic and if he continues to train well, we'll send him into it. He's also nominated for the American Derby at Washington Park. We'll go after that, too, if things work out well."

Mrs. Mars has another excellent prospect in Tough Hombre, which won the secondary feature on the Derby day program, thus giving the Milky Way stable the biggest afternoon in its history.

"Tough Hombre is also eligible for the Classic and American Derby," Waldron said. "He's coming along fine and we'll gradually stretch him out to run greater distances."

No Excuses for Bimelech.

Most of the other horses which ran in the Derby are going east today or tomorrow with the Preakness in view. All but Roman are expected to run in the eastern event, which last year resulted in the overthrow of the Kentucky Derby winner, Johnstown.

Bimelech's handlers were plunged in gloom today, but they had no excuses to offer for the defeat of the colt which went to the post at 2 to 5 odds, the shortest priced Derby favorite since the 1880s. Bimelech got away well and at no time in the race did he suffer any serious interference. Tho he was between Roman and Dit on the last turn and was forced to go wider than Gallahadion, he was still well ahead of the Milky Way horse when they straightened out for the run home.

This was the first time Bimelech had been asked to go more than a mile and an eighth—and it was in that last furlong that the Derby was decided. Bimelech just didn't have anything left when Gallahadion came up with the final challenge.

38 ARE ELIGIBLE

Baltimore, Md., May 5 (AP).—The Golden Jubilee Preakness stakes at Pimlico next Saturday may develop into a wide-open horse race with a large field as a result of Gallahadion's victory in the Kentucky Derby.

Maryland Jockey club officials, looking forward to the 50th running of the $50,000 added event, expressed belief that with the bursting of the Bimelech bubble owners and trainers would not be hesitant now about entering their horses in the Preakness.

Of the eight Derby starters, Mioland, Pictor, and Royal Man are eligible for the Preakness. Altogether 38 horses are eligible. Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, owner of Gallahadion, has two others in the list—Chatted and Tough Hombre.

Among the outstanding 3 year olds that did not go in the Derby and are eligible for the Preakness are Andy K., Abrasion, Carrier Pigeon, Jacomar, Sun Pharos, Flight Command, Merry Knight, Snow Ridge, Your Chance, and Woof Woof.

The Preakness already is worth $68,865. If 12 horses start, at a fee of $500 each, the purse will gross $74,865.

She Kept Her Pride.

The neighbors were talking last evening
Of Joe and Elly Meers,
Of the trifle that came between them
And shadowed all their years.

It was on an Easter morning
Years and years ago,
Joe said that his eggs weren't cooked just right
And Elly said, "Is that so?"

And those three words, the neighbors say,
Were the last she spoke to him,
A conflict sprang up between them—
Stark, relentless, and grim.

The seasons came, the seasons went,
Time dragged its length along,
But neither would make a single move
To right this simple wrong.

One by one the children left,
Each to a home of his own,
Leaving these two on that side-road farm,
All to themselves, alone.

Neither would utter the single word
That might end this eerie thrall.

Alone in her gabled room,
Sealing the living silence
With the silence of the tomb.

And at her request they buried her
With her own folks over near Ives.
"She kept her pride," the neighbors said—
What mattered two shattered lives!

JOHN PLEASANT, ED KOZOLE MEET IN BOUT TONIGHT

Lightweights to Clash in Marigold Windup.

Eddie Kozole of Detroit and Johnny Pleasant of Chicago, winners of Golden Gloves lightweight championships, the former in 1937 and Pleasant in 1939, will meet tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. It is one of three matches of eight rounds featuring the program. In others Al Tibbits, Danville, Ill., middleweight, also a Golden Gloves alumnus, is paired with Joe Sutka of Wyandotte, Mich., and George Nyberg, Toronto, Ont., welterweight, with Phil Latona of Denison, Tex.

Pleasant, a terrific right hand puncher, will be searching for his fourth victory in five Chicago appearances. He made a success of his professional debut by scoring a one round technical knockout over Manuel Leva last Sept. 15. In a subsequent encounter Johnny lost a six round decision to Bill Eddy, another former Golden Glover, in the Stadium after scoring a knockdown. Pleasant knocked out Bill Parsons and beat Billy Borne in his last two engagements.

Kozole, who now weighs 140 pounds, conquered Steve Souris, Gary welterweight, in his first professional fight in Chicago on Feb. 26. Tibbits will be trying for his 12th straight decision at the expense of Sutka, who is a strong opponent. Nyberg also will be attempting to stretch a current winning streak of five in a row.

A four round opener will bring together Don Siegel, former Michigan tackle and a member of the 1939 college all-star football team, and Jack Jersey of St. Paul. Siegel, who is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 215 pounds, has a record of six consecutive knockouts.

Al Williams, Fox Lake light heavyweight wrestler, will meet Cecil McGill in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, this evening. . . . Sammy Spunt and Mike Hechinger will promote the first of a series of weekly amateur boxing shows during the outdoor season in Northwest stadium, 4043 North Cicero avenue, Friday. . . . There also will be amateur cards in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park avenue, tomorrow, and in the Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street, Wednesday.

Swedes Beat Hansa, 3 to 1, After Riot

BY OFFSIDE.

The Swedish Americans clinched the Major division title of the International Soccer league yesterday by defeating the Hansa team, 3 to 1, at Kedzie avenue and Roscoe street in a game delayed ten minutes by a fight in which both teams and many of the 2,000 spectators participated.

Tommy Hamilton put the Swedes ahead in the 20th minute of the second half when his shot bounded thru the legs of the goal keeper. John Kilgour and John O'Boyle missed chances to increase the margin on penalty shots.

Score After Fight.

After the fight, which developed when two players began kicking each other while down, the Swedes added two more goals on shots by Axel Johnson and Kilgour. Hansa got its lone goal in the final minute of play on Alois Thiet's shot while police, who had arrived after the fight patroled the sidelines.

The American Nickeloids, the only team to defeat the Swedes, played a 2 to 2 tie against the Schwabens at California avenue and Roscoe. Victor Absil gave Schwaben a lead in the first half and Sam Bernabel scored for the Nickeloids before the intermission. Both teams made a penalty shot in the second half.

NO OLYMPICS, BUT 'AMERICA TO PICK 'A TEAM, ANYWAY

New York, May 5 (AP).—Altho the Olympic games have been canceled, the United States Olympic committee today decided to select official Olympic teams in men's and women's track and field, swimming, boxing, weight lifting, and cycling, and to recognize the winter sports teams already chosen. Olympic medals and certificates will be presented to members of each team.

A California committee virtually has clinched the track and field and men's boxing tryouts, offering $15,000 to finance expenses of athletes for four days of competition in Los Angeles in July.

The Olympic committee said swimming tryouts probably will be combined with the National A. A. U. men's meet in Santa Barbara, Cal., July 4-7, and the women's meet in Portland, Ore., Aug. 16-18. Women's track trials will be combined with the National A. A. U. meet in Ocean City, N. J., July 6, and the cycling trials with the national road championship. Weight lifting trials will be held in New York May 25.

The latin driver last raced in the 500 mile event in 1933, finishing 14th. He had entered the 1923 race, but failed to finish.

Riganti, now 43 years old, said he had been participating only in road racing and believed he would need at least 10 days to get accustomed again to the two and one-half mile oval.

Bucky Walters Hangs Up Fourth Straight.

Cincinnati, O., May 5 (AP).—Two errors in the seventh inning by the New York Giants gave the Cincinnati Reds two runs and a 3 to 2 victory today—the fourth straight triumph for Pitcher Bucky Walters.

Mike McCormick's single off Hal Schumacher started the Reds' rally. Walters forced McCormick and then stole second. Bill Werber walked and Lonnie Frey grounded to Nick Witek, whose throw to first base was dropped by Norman Young, Walters scoring. Werber also scored when Young's throw to the plate was dropped by Harry Danning. Score:

BOWLERS IN PREP LEAGUES FETED; RECEIVE AWARDS

High school bowlers who compete thruout the season on an intramural basis and wind up their activity with a city-wide tournament, received their trophies and medals at the third annual banquet of the Chicago High School Bowling club in the Stevens hotel yesterday. More than 2,200 attended the affair, sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago, the organization which also sponsors their activities.

A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education in the public high schools, presented the Kelly High team with the board of education's shield, emblematic of the championship of the high school tournament. Large trophies, to be held for one year only, were presented to Lake View and Harrison whose boys' and girls' teams, respectively, won the high school club championships, the presentation being made by Milton Raymer, secretary of the club. In addition the members of each of the two teams received individual trophies.

The members of the first, second, and third place teams in each of the 59 leagues—40 boys' and 19 girls'—received medals, a total of 885 in all. Mr. Raymer also presented bowling balls and bags to the members of the winning teams in each section of Chicago.

Barney Hochstadter, president of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago, was toastmaster.

New York, May 5 (AP).—Loyal Tingley, University of Chicago senior, was dethroned as national epee fencing champion tonight by his Illinois division teammate, Fred Seibert. He was the third 1939 title holder to meet defeat in the tournament.

Seibert won the championship by defeating Alfred Skrobisch of the New York Fencers' club, 3-1, in a fence-off after they had tied in the final round robin with six victories and two defeats. Tingley placed third with five victories and three losses.

FELLER, INDIANS BEAT RED SOX, 6-1; TAKE FIRST PLACE

Boston, Mass., May 5 (AP).—Behind the seven hit pitching of Bob Feller, who struck out eight and walked only one, the Cleveland Indians moved into first place in the American league today by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 1, before 32,500. Ken Keltner of the Indians had a perfect day at bat, hitting a home run with two on in the third, rapping out a single and a double, and walking twice.

Feller was linked with undefeated Mickey Harris in a widely heralded pitching duel but the left hander departed in the third after the Indians flailed him for seven hits and five runs.

New York, May 5 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers batted around in the first inning today and altho scoring only three runs proceeded to beat the world champion New York Yankees, 6 to 4.

Earl Averill and Rudy York each made three hits for the Tigers. Buck Newsom started on the mound for Detroit, but yielded four hits and six walks to force his removal in the fourth.

On his way off the diamond Newsom made some remark which caused Umpire William Summers to take offense and was waved to the dressing room — where he was already headed. Archie McKain then took charge and got credit for the victory altho he had to be rescued by Al Benton in the ninth. Score:

MARION, CARDS' ROOKIE, SUFFERS TORN CARTILAGE

his homer into the upper deck of the left field stand, scoring behind Siebert. Bob Kennedy threw out Al Rubeling, then Bill Lillard singled to center, but was forced by Dean. Dee Miles flied to Wright.

McNair tied the score in a hurry. He opened the fifth with his second homer of the season, a line smash into the upper deck of the left field stand. Tresh grounded to McCoy and Lillard made a nifty stop and throw to rob Lyons of a hit. Kennedy grounded to Lillard.

At the start of the sixth, Siebert and Hayes stirred up trouble for the second time. Siebert opened with a single to center and Hayes singled to the same sector, Siebert stopping at second. Rubeling flied to Mike Kreevich but Lillard doubled to right center, Siebert scoring. Hayes was out at the plate, Wright to McNair to Tresh when he tried to follow Siebert home. Dean singled to center, scoring Lillard, then Miles flied to Wright.

McNair Delivers Again.

Appling was safe on Rubeling's fumble to get the Sox's successful seventh under way. Solters flied to Miles, but McNair came thru with his third straight hit, a single to center, Appling taking third. Tresh fouled to Siebert, but Tom Turner, batting for Lyons, singled over second, Appling scoring. Kennedy bounced to Lillard.

Eaves, relegated to relief work after three failures as a starter, succeeded Lyons at the beginning of the Philadelphia seventh. Moses and McCoy flied out and Johnson walked, then stole second on Eaves' windup. Siebert was called out on strikes.

Mr. Wright Keeps Running.

Then Wright came on the scene. He singled to center. Appling dumped a Texas leaguer over second and Miles played it safe on the first bounce. While Miles stood holding the ball Wright kept right on running and succeeded in sliding home with the tying run to the amazement of one and all. Appling reached second on the throw to the plate and scored on Solters' single to center. Here McNair's hitting streak ended. He was called out on strikes.

In the home eighth Eaves sustained his reputation for wildness. He hit Hayes with a pitched ball, then threw four wides ones to Rubeling. Appleton came in to pitch and Hayes was forced at third on Lillard's bunt, Kuhel to Kennedy. Dean was called out on strikes and Miles grounded out to McNair.

Cubs Send Dean Back to Work Against Phillies

Diz Dean will have to go to work again today in the second game of the series between the Cubs and the Phillies. It will be his fourth start of the season, one of which he finished. The Cubs will be treated to the pitching of Si Johnson.

Stan Baumgartner, former University of Chicago athlete and later a big league pitcher who turned newspaper man, is traveling with the Phillies on their western trip, his first in fourteen years of baseball writing for a Philadelphia paper.

Three of the Phillies regulars are absent. Joe Marty, ex-Cub outfielder, is recovering from a spike wound. Third Baseman Merrill May has a wrenched back, and Shortstop Bob Bragan has stomach misery.

PREP OARSMEN RESUME DRILLS THIS AFTERNOON

After a week of inactivity the 10 high school crews that will compete in the second annual Chicago interscholastic rowing championship regatta on the Lincoln park lagoon June 9, will again launch their 60 foot shells starting this afternoon. The regatta is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Lincoln Park Boat club, in coöperation with the Chicago park district.

All scheduled training, as well as races, were canceled last week due to the wintry weather and because of the laying of a cement walk at the club landing, along the Lincoln park lagoon. The last two squares will be laid today.

The senior crews of Schurz, Waller, and Amundsen High school youths will take out the eight oared shells for the first practice runs of the week. Junior crews from the same three schools will take turns learning how to row this afternoon in the club's heavy training barge, the Buccaneer.

to second on the error. Mahan's long fly to Leiber gave Martin a chance to move to third, but Morrie Arnovich and Chuck Klein expired on infield taps.

Lee started the fifth by giving passes to Warren and Mueller, so he probably felt that by limiting the damage to one run he had accomplished at least a moral victory. With the two fellows on bases, Young made one attempt to bunt, then swung and popped to Herman. Mulcahy popped to Cavarretta. But Schulte lined a single over third, scoring Warren with the first run of the game.

The Cubs tied it in the fifth, but nevertheless there was another cavein in the attack. Todd opened with a single to center and went to third on Mattick's single to the same spot. Lee slapped a low liner back at Mulcahy and the ball caroomed off Mulcahy's glove to Mueller, who made the throw to first in time to get the decision, Todd scoring. Hack bounced to Young, whose throw nailed Mattick going into third, and Herman, after getting a second chance because Warren dropped his pop foul, rolled to Schulte.

More Fadeouts.

The Phils had Lee melted down almost to a whisper in the sixth, the first three batters reaching first, but only one of them scoring. Mahan doubled against the right field wall and scored on a single by Arnovich. Klein walked and there was still nobody out. Warren bunted on the fly to Cavarretta, who dropped the ball but recovered and threw to third to force Arnovich. Hack threw to Mattick, who dashed over to first to tag both Klein and Warren who were doubtful about the legal occupancy of the base. The umpires finally figured out that it was just an ordinary double play, retiring Arnovich and Klein. Mueller then fouled to Cavarretta.

Martin launched the big blowoff in the eighth by singling to right. Mahan did the same. Arnovich flied to Leiber and this was where Olsen was brought in to pitch to Klein. Klein's double to left scored Martin and Mahan. Warren singled Klein home and a double play was turned in on Mueller's grounder.

Then, the Ninth.

Young started the two run ninth with a single and Mulcahy bunted to Olsen. The latter held the ball until both runners were safe. Schulte forced Mulcahy. Martin then squeezed Young home with a perfect bunt and Mahan's single scored Schulte.

The little disturbance kicked up by the Cubs in the ninth began with Nicholson doubling to left and Cavarretta walking. They advanced on a passed ball. At this stage Todd fanned. Mattick singled to send home the two runners. Dallessandro, batting for Olsen, doubled past third. Mulcahy yielded to Brown, so Russell batted for Hack and also doubled, two more counting. The end came quickly when Herman lined to Arnovich and Galan fanned.

Rigney Draws Caster in 2d Game with A's

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5.—John Rigney will try for his second pitching victory of the season for the White Sox here tomorrow. He will be opposed by George Caster, Athletics' veteran who has lost three and won none.

Taft Wright was shaken up when he slid into the plate with the tying run in the eighth and later in the inning was bruised when he bumped against a screen in pursuit of a foul. After the second mishap he left the game under his own power. He was replaced by Larry Rosenthal, but expects to be back to work tomorrow.

Mrs. James Dykes, wife of the White Sox manager, will undergo an operation in a Philadelphia hospital tomorrow. Mrs. Dykes has been gravely ill for several weeks. During the exhibition season Jimmy flew from El Paso, Tex., to Philadelphia to be at his wife's bedside, rejoining the team in Owensboro, Ky., after her condition had improved.

MADISON LOSES FIRST GAME IN THREE EYE, 6-1

League Opens 36th Season with Four Contests.

Excellent weather conditions helped the Three Eye league get off to its 36th season yesterday on four fields. The Madison, Wis., Blues, who took over Bloomington's franchise, were beaten by Decatur, 6 to 1, in the Illinois city before 4,000. Decatur finished fourth in the championship season in 1939, then lost to Springfield in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The Springfield club, playing at home, was forced to go 13 innings before beating Waterloo, Ia., 5 to 4. The Iowans finished in eighth place last season.

Moline Loses, 11 to 4.

Moline, the Chicago Cubs' farm club, was whipped, 11 to 4, by Clinton, Ia., in Moline, the victors making all their runs in the last three innings. Moline was seventh in 1939 and Clinton was fifth.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., eliminated in the 1939 playoffs after finishing the championship season on top, lost to Evansville, Ind., 8 to

SILENT THRONGS VIEW BODY OF BISHOP STEWART

Vespers Service Is Held; Funeral Today.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Silent throngs filed past the body of Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago yesterday while preparations for funeral services today were being completed. Bishop Stewart died Thursday night while he was on his way to services at a south side church.

Yesterday morning until 11 o'clock the mourners viewed the body as it lay in state in the Lady chapel of St. Luke's procathedral in Evanston. At that hour the coffin was placed in the sanctuary before the high altar, and the great congregation, filling the edifice, passed by. The body will remain there until today's funeral service.

Vespers Service Conducted.

Yesterday afternoon the Very Rev. Gerald G. Moore, dean of the procathedral, conducted Vespers for the Dead over the prelate's body.

Many Episcopal churches of the diocese yesterday celebrated requiem eucharists for the repose of the bishop's soul, and prayers of remembrance and condolence were offered from pulpits of churches of many denominations.

Final Requiem This Morning.

The final requiem over the bishop's body will be offered at 11 a. m. today by Suffragan Bishop Edwin J. Randall, who is ecclesiastical authority of the diocese until, following canonical procedure, a convention is called to elect a successor to Bishop Stewart.

At least 200 bishops and other clergy are expected to make up the procession before today's service. These will be vested and will wear black stoles. Dr. Herbert E. Hyde, organist and choirmaster of the procathedral, will direct the music of the service, which will feature Bishop Stewart's favorite hymns.

Temporary interment will be made at Rosehill cemetery while preparations for permanent burial are made beneath the high altar of the procathedral.

SOCIALISTS PLAN DRIVE TO EXPLAIN VIEWS IN SCHOOLS

A plan to organize Socialist campaign clubs in colleges and high schools "for education rather than election" was adopted yesterday by the Young People's Socialist league at the Illinois Youth conference in the Morrison hotel.

Maynard C. Krueger, Socialist vice presidential candidate, said: "This campaign must show the nation that to insure peace and freedom we must solve our own internal problems and above all find places for the 4,000,000 jobless youth."

SEEK DECREASED ELECTRICAL RATE FOR APARTMENTS

Attorneys for eight Chicago apartment dwellers have filed a petition before the Illinois commerce commission asking that the Commonwealth Edison company be ordered to refund approximately $4,400,000 to its customers and reduce its electricity rates, it was learned yesterday.

The petition filed Saturday alleged that in 1936 the commission illegally fixed the company's valuation at $318,000,000 as a basis for electric rates, altho two years previously it had found that the cost of the company's property did not exceed $296,000,000. A reduction in the valuation would mean a saving of $3,500,000 a year to Chicago customers, according to Charles Liebman, one of the attorneys.

The petition also asserted that a new rate schedule filed Oct. 2, 1936, by the company increased the cost of electricity in small apartments, but reduced it in larger dwellings. Since then, it was charged, the rate reduction has been $1,100,000 less annually than the commission had ordered.

THE ARK SAILS, BUT CHILDREN FOLLOW IN AUTO

Seattle, Wash., May 5 (AP).—While his wife and six younger children waved from the shore, Paul Satko and his eldest daughter sailed today in his 40 foot home made ark for Everett, Wash. The family is bound for a "new life" in Alaska.

Mrs. Satko and the children left for Everett, 28 miles up Puget sound, by automobile, friends said. There they plan to join Satko, who will try to obtain employment while making changes in the ark demanded by the Juvenile court here. The court ruled that the six minor children must not board the vessel again until changes are made to improve sanitation, seaworthiness, and fire protection.

Satko, unemployed, but spurning relief, built the ark with the idea of transporting his family to Alaska to homestead a farm.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

CHEMICAL FIRM EARNS MORE IN FIRST QUARTER

Monsanto American Units Make Gain.

Monsanto Chemical company announced yesterday that its American units had net earnings of $1,642,037 in the March quarter after all charges. This was equal to $1.23 a share on the common stock, and compared with profit of $1,142,264 or 82 cents a share, in the first three months of 1939.

Edgar M. Queeny reports sales.

The company's quarterly statement omitted the accounts of the British subsidiary because of the uncertainties created by the war, Edgar M. Queeny, president, told stockholders in a message accompanying the statement.

Canadian Dividend Excluded.

Queeny said a dividend of $270,375 which was received by the company in March, 1940, from Monsanto Chemicals, Ltd., was not included in the new quarterly report because it represents the final distribution of the Canadian unit's 1939 earnings.

Monsanto's American companies had a 16 per cent decrease in sales volume in the March quarter from the preceding three months, but production was increased to restore inventories to normal, Queeny said.

Will Form Australian Unit.

"This benefited our employés, the pay roll for the March quarter being slightly above that of the preceding quarter and 15 per cent above that of the first 1939 quarter," Queeny wrote.

He said Monsanto's agreement with Australian interests for formation of Monsanto Chemicals [Australia] Proprietary, Ltd., to manufacture Monsanto products in the commonwealth will help protect part of the export field served by the British unit prior to the beginning of the war.

FILM PROGRAM UNDERWRITTEN BY 2 BIG BANKS

Hollywood, Cal., May 5 [Special].—Participation of the Bankers Trust company of New York with the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles in underwriting the $6,000,000 production program of Hal Roach studios for 1940-'41 was announced today. The program is the largest in Roach history.

Studio officials said that $500,000 has been earmarked for national advertising, four-fifths of which will be conducted thru newspapers in an "exhibitor-cooperative campaign." Hugh Huber, vice president in charge of production, explained that "experience has shown newspaper advertising to be the most direct and effectual method of reaching film audiences."

Steel Makers Expect Rush at Price Deadline

Production of steel last week climbed back to early March levels on an upturn of sheet and strip orders booked prior to withdrawal of price concessions, the magazine Steel said yesterday.

Production rose to 63½ per cent of capacity and the magazine described the gain as "the first recovery of consequence so far this year."

The price concessions were withdrawn May 1, the restorations to be effective June 30. Congestion may develop near the deadline, it was said.

Mills' Problem Told.

"Producers have established June 30 as the final date for shipment of low priced orders, but will have difficulty meeting this deadline unless buyers coöperate by accepting a portion of the tonnage this month," the magazine said.

"Many users prefer to delay releases until the end of the quarter, since the material is not required immediately. To prevent congestion of rolling schedules in late June, mills now are pressing for specifications."

Bookings of sheet and strip slumped after price concessions were withdrawn, but business in other products continued steady or showed gains, Steel said. Activity continued in export markets and seasonal buying of tin plate, pipe, wire, and other commodities was reported.

Wheeling Makes Big Gain.

The largest gain in steelmaking centers last week was 14 points to 94 per cent of capacity at Wheeling. Other gains included: Pittsburgh, 3 to 58; Chicago, 2½ to 59½; Youngstown, 5 to 50, and Cincinnati, 10½ to 53.

New England lost 4 points to 53 and Detroit slumped 2 to 70. Unchanged were Eastern Pennsylvania at 57, Buffalo, 44, Cleveland, 70, Birmingham, 83, and St. Louis, 42½.

BRITAIN BOOSTS TOBACCO TAX TO $3.52 PER POUND

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The American tobacco farmer, already hard hit by war restrictions on exports, learned today that Great Britain has imposed the third increase on tobacco imports duties within a year in an effort to obtain more war funds. The duty on American tobacco now stands at $3.52 a pound at the official rate of exchange.

In announcing the recent increase, estimated at about 30 per cent, the agriculture department said that the full duty was equivalent to a tax of 18 cents on a package of 20 full sized cigarets, compared with the American federal tax of 6 cents.

AIR LINE PLANS FREIGHT SERVICE WITHIN 3 YEARS

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5 [Special].—Developments which he believes will bring freight flying into a reality within three years were announced today by C. R. Smith, American Airlines president.

Smith said he would soon confer with other air lines, aircraft builders, express companies, and the army air corps to learn what type of cargo ship would best meet all demands. Following such conferences, Smith indicated he would seek the design of such a plane, capable of hauling 10 tons of freight without passengers.

World Wheat Use Is Cut by Europe's War

Estimates of wheat consumption are being revised downward as a result of the European war. The apparent world's disappearance of the bread grain during the 1940-'41 season, excluding Russia and China, is estimated by the department of agriculture at 4,025,000,000 bushels, or 27,000,000 less than in the preceding season.

Consumption, however, is believed to be far above that during the world war years 1914-'18. In 1914 the disappearance was only 3,050,000,000 bushels, while in the 1924-'28 period it averaged 3,502,000,000 bushels. The 1918 figure is not available.

World Supply Is Large.

Germany and countries under German military control are reported finding it difficult to obtain adequate supplies of wheat, but Chicago grain authorities believe other countries are in the most favored position ever known as far as available supplies are concerned. The department of agriculture estimates the world's carryover of wheat on July 1 will be about 1,433,000,000 bushels, by far the largest on record, and about 240,000,000 bushels more than the stock of old grain on hand at the end of the 1939 season.

War developments in Europe last week outweighed crop comments as the dominating influence in shaping the trend of the wheat market, and was responsible for a sharp rally following an early break on heavy hedging sales against loan grain.

Corn Prices Are Higher.

Corn prices were on the upgrade last week, the lack of pressure of cash grain being the main influence.

IMMEDIATE GAIN IN BUILDING OF HOMES EXPECTED

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Secretary of Commerce Hopkins predicted today "an immediate increase in private one to four family home construction." He said his prediction was based on a recent sharp rise in applications to the Federal Housing administration for insurance of mortgages on new houses.

Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, announced that the FHA was making a special effort to encourage construction of new homes in rural communities. He said that the chief problem was to create an interest on the part of the building industry in the small town market.

BUNA RUBBER.

Is Buna being made in this country?—F. S.

Answer: Standard Oil Development company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil company [N. J.], last year acquired the American manufacturing rights to the German process of making Buna synthetic rubber. The Firestone Tire and Rubber company was licensed recently by Standard Oil Development and started production on a limited scale of "Buna-N" or perbunan synthetic rubber, which is especially suited for mechanical and scientific uses.

Buna-N is reputed to be acid-resistant and will be used in making such rubber goods as gasoline pump hose. Another form of the synthetic rubber, known as Buna-S, is more adaptable to the manufacture of automobile tires because of its resistance to heat, it is said.

A subsidiary of Standard Oil [N. J.] is building a plant at Baton Rouge, La., for the production of Buna rubber. The factory will have a capacity of 10,000 pounds a day and will start operations late this year, it was indicated.

Buna rubber is derived from oil refinery gases. Synthetic rubber also has been prepared by various processes in this country from butane gas, limestone or coal tar. The manufacture of rubber substitutes is well advanced in Germany and Russia.

DANISH INTEREST.

Has the German occupation of Denmark stopped interest payments on Danish bonds held by Americans? —E. S.

Answer: The Guaranty Trust company paid the April 15 interest on about $44,000,000 of Kingdom of Denmark 4½ per cent external dollar bonds due April 15, 1962. The payment was made from funds already on deposit with the bank, which is fiscal agent for the bonds. The distribution was made after the bank obtained the necessary license from the federal reserve system.

The next payment on Danish dollar bonds falls due July 1 on the 6 per cent bonds due Jan. 1, 1942, of which there are $30,000,000 outstanding. The National City bank, fiscal agent for the issue, has not indicated whether it has funds to make that payment.

A third Danish dollar issue consists of $20,000,000 in 5½ per cent bonds due Aug. 1, 1955, on which the next interest payment is due Aug. 1. Guaranty Trust is paying agent for this issue, also.

What is meant in financial parlance by "cutting a melon"?—T. G.

British Sale of American Securities Extremely Light

LONDON, May 5.—Consideration here of the business situation in the United States by no means prompts the view that American securities should be sold. Private liquidation of such securities by British holders has fallen to a mere trickle compared with sales earlier in the war.

SHIFTING WORLD MONEY HOARDS RAISE PROBLEM

Wall Street Seeks to Protect Self.

Winthrop W. Aldrich urges control.

Extension of government controls over Europe's money and business machinery, driving capital to the United States for the comparative freedom of dealings here, in turn has stirred some demand for more federal power to control the immense supply of idle funds accumulating in Wall street.

The head of Wall street's largest commercial bank — Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National—focused attention last week on that line of approach toward the "gold problem" which is wrinkling the brows of money experts.

Urges More Power for Board.

In a discussion of the United States' soaring gold store, nub of the money debate, Aldrich suggested the federal reserve board, with "adequate safeguards," might be given wider latitude by congress to raise and lower legal reserve requirements of member banks in the reserve system.

The purpose, he said, would be to improve the control of federal authorities over expansion of credit. By raising reserve requirements the reserve board theoretically could remove much or all of the money surplus and thus prevent it from being used for credit expansion in wartime.

What has brought the gold question up for deeper study in banking quarters, it appears, is the accelerated shift of the metal here in recent months and fear war speculation and goods shortage eventually may put in motion a spiral of credit expansion beyond control of federal authorities without taking drastic measures.

Cites Big Gain in Gold.

Aldrich, in the current publication of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Banking, says that nearly $1,000,000,000 of gold has arrived this year, making the increase in the United States gold stock from imports approximately $12,000,000,000 since 1933.

Government officials also have begun to discuss the "gold problem" in the light of wartime conditions, and some have urged added power for the reserve board. Observers expect more concerted efforts to get congress to listen to the suggestions, probably in the next session after the presidential election is out of the way.

Along with additional power for the reserve board, Aldrich has proposed the return of gold to free circulation in the United States.
